Huge Cache Of Arms Is Seized In Guatemala

Former Interior Minister Captured By Military Junta

GUATEMALA CITY, July 10—UP—Intelligence agents captured former Interior Minister Ricardo Chavez Nacmann and a veritable arsenal of hidden weapons in the home of a member of the short-lived Diaz junta here Saturday.

An official announcement said agents sent to raid the home of former Defense Minister Jose A. Sanchez found Chavez guarding the arms hoard.

The captured weapons included a 30 mm. automatic cannon, six machine guns with five spare barrels, 21 tommy guns, seven cases of grenades, with a sizeable quantity of ammunition and miscellaneous other equipment.

Sanchez, whose whereabouts now are unknown, was a member of the three-man military junta headed by Col. Enrique Diaz that deposed pro-Communist President Jacobo Arbenz a week ago Sunday. Diaz was ousted two days later by Col. Eliezer H. Monzon.

Monzon, who was the third member of the Diaz junta, served as provisional president until Thursday, when he was replaced by rebel leader Carlos Castillo Armas. He is a member of the three-man junta, headed by Castillo, which now governs Guatemala.

Earlier Saturday, it was announced that the current junta has decided to take over rich cotton plantations owned by Arbenz and other leaders of the ousted government.

The government declared the lands subject to "intervention"—a special Latin American action whose nearest U.S. equivalent was the wartime regulation enabling the government to take over strike-bound factories.

Meanwhile, newspapers here reported the government is preparing an investigation into arms shipped here from the Communist world.

The weapons were distributed by the Arbenz regime to peasant hands sent out to carry anti-Communist forces during the recent revolution.

Officials of the new government declined to comment on reports that the Communist-supplied arms were worthless, but private sources said the reports are true.

Lone Occupant Of House Barely Escapes Flames

Flames licking through a tinder-dry wood frame house in the Bernstein park area early Saturday narrowly missed taking the life of the lone occupant, who escaped when a co-worker called to take him to work.

W. W. McKenzie, 36-year-old saw mill worker and the owner and the occupant of the house, managed to save only himself and his underclothing from the fire. The rest of his possessions were destroyed.

The fire was discovered about 5:30 a.m. Saturday in the house behind Tichell's grocery store on Bernstein park road, according to firemen, and was beyond saving when they arrived at the scene.

McKenzie estimated he lost about $5,000 in the flames, including $75 which was in the pocket of his trousers in the house. He fled in his night clothing.

The sawmill worker said he was sleeping in the living room of the house when the blaze, cause still unknown, broke out. The fire apparently started in the rear of the four-room house.

"The first thing I knew about it was when I woke up and saw my friend (a fellow lumber yard worker) standing in the living room with me, and the smoke all over the place," McKenzie said later.

"I guess if he hadn't come by to (Continued on Second Page)

French Premier Back In Geneva To See Molotov

GENEVA, July 10—UP—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France arrived in Geneva Saturday morning concerned that the apparent U.S. boycott of the final phase of the Asian peace conference might raise the Red price for an Indo-China peace agreement.

The French leader scheduled immediate talks with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and was expected to meet with Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai soon after the Chinese arrives early next week.

Communist Viet Minh sources here hinted their leader, Ho Chi Minh, might come to Geneva shortly to build up even further the top-drawer Communist contingent at the talks where the U.S. so far is represented by its diplomatic second team.

Mendes-France flew back to the 11-week-old conference to push his search for an Indo-China "peace with honor." He has only 10 days left before the July 20 deadline he set when he took office promising (Continued on Second Page)

First Part Of Fund For TV For Colleges Okayed

Governor Robert F. Kennon late Friday cut in half an appropriation bill calling for $300,000 to construct and operate educational television facilities through cooperation of the state board of education, state department of education and Louisiana State University.

Gov. Kennon approved the $150,000 appropriation for the first year, but vetoed the $150,000 for 1955-56.

Baton Rouge sources said that the governor had previously stated in connection with appropriation bills that the "money was not available." The money for the educational television bill is to be derived from the general fund.

Reports here for past weeks have pointed to speculation that KFAZ-TV was under consideration as a likely purchase for the program. KFAZ, which ceased operation in April of this year, is owned by J. O. "Red" Willett, local pipe line contractor.

Willett was in Baton Rouge for some time while the legislature was in session.

Two bills were passed by the legislature concerning the matter. The Communist radio at Prague said parts of the Troja and Liben islands in the Vitava (Moldau) River in the middle of Prague were under water.

Raging waters of the wreckage-filled Danube meanwhile poured into the Austrian steel city of Linz as a great inland sea built up in the heart of Germany's and Austria's richest farmland.

Hundreds of German and Austrian villages are under water. Many of them are deserted. Fourteen persons are known dead. Many are missing. Thousands, including hundreds of American troops, are engaged in rescue work.

Radio Prague said the mounting waters of the Danube also were threatening villages near Bratislava and along the Czech-Hungarian border. Czech army, police, border guards and fire brigades were busy evacuating them, the broadcast said.

A great expanse of water extends 300 miles over the banks of the Danube from Regensburg in Germany, to Vienna, the Austrian capital. The normally peaceful "Blue" Danube is a churning brown torrent, carrying debris from flooded farms, battered bridges, power stations and homes. The bodies of hundreds of cattle also bobbed in the stream.

On either bank of central Europe's artery, famed tributaries like the Inn, the Isar, the Enns and the Traun, have spilled their banks, crashed through dams and caused incalculable damage.

The Danube and the Inn have reached the expected high point of their rise in Germany, but there is danger that new rain and melting snows may cause them to rise again.

While large areas of the medieval German city of Passau were under water, the crest of the flood moved this morning down the Danube to Linz. By midday, 1,000 houses were flooded, more than a quarter of them with water almost up to their roofs. Some 15,000 persons—a tenth of the city's population—were evacuated from their homes by firemen and U.S. soldiers.

The Vietminh now occupy the southern third of the Red River Delta in the wake of French withdrawal to a narrow defense perimeter around the Delta belt from Hanoi to Haiphong port. Strong opponents of the bill in the senate were two New Orleans senators, David MacLaurin and Harry Howard, who argued that the bill was "wild and haphazard" and that the state of Louisiana would be entering the television industry.

Rush To Escape From Hanoi Has Panicky Aspect

HANOI, Indochina, July 10 (UP)—The rush to get out of Hanoi is on. Vietnamese by the hundreds are leaving daily, fearful the French plan to give away their city to the Communist-led Vietminh.

Crowds numbering up to 1,000 daily queue up uneasily to get government exit permits and air tickets. The latter, already are sold out through most of August. Tension that could quickly flare into panic or desperate revolt spread among thousands more who cannot pay the price of a plane ride over the surrounding jungles and mountains.

Four Charges Are Faced By Injured Negro

Two Accidents In Stolen Car Basis Of Police Action

Authorities early Saturday morning arrested a Monroe Negro man on four charges following a fast-moving series of events involving a stolen car, a minor accident near Waverly, and a more serious accident in Delhi which left the Negro in a Monroe hospital.

The Negro, identified as David Ellis, about 40, of 802 Pine street, was reported in "good" condition at Charity hospital later Saturday. He suffered a broken leg and face abrasions in the second crash of the stolen car, which went out of control in Delhi and rolled over "five or six" times shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday.

Ellis, who was thrown about 40 feet from the car in the crash, will face charges of auto theft, driving while intoxicated, causing an accident, and leaving the scene of an accident when he leaves the hospital, arresting officers said.

A companion of Ellis', identified as James Keel, Negro, of Rayville, was being held in custody of the Richland parish sheriff's department Saturday morning, but it was unknown whether charges would be filed against him.

According to reports from the Monroe police station and the sheriff's office in Rayville, the events occurred in this manner:

About 1 a.m. Saturday, state police put out a bulletin to all officers reporting the theft of a Plymouth from John Adams, 900 North 3rd street in Monroe.

Shortly thereafter, the Richland parish sheriff's department received a report of a minor wreck on highway 80 near Waverly. At the scene, they discovered the driver of one of the cars had fled, but an occupant, Keel, was still at the scene.

He told Ellis had picked him up in Rayville that night, and was driving the car which left the scene of the Waverly wreck, according to Deputy Sheriff A. L. McKinney.

The deputy, who investigated the case along with State Trooper William Thompson, said Keel told them he did not know the car was stolen.

The next report of the stolen car was from Delhi, only a short time after officers arrived at the scene of the Waverly wreck.

Ellis had apparently lost control of the car while heading west toward Monroe, and it turned over and rolled several times. The car was demolished, and Ellis was knocked unconscious. He was still out when the officers arrived.

The officers took him first to the Delhi clinic, but he was later transferred to the Monroe hospital.

Chief of Police M. L. Peters of Monroe said Ellis will be charged with auto theft, and Thompson filed the other charges Saturday morning, McKinney said.

Nightwatchman And Fisherman Catch Intruder

An out-of-town fisherman and the operator of a local nightwatchman service combined forces about 3 a.m. Saturday to capture 31-year-old Earl Williams, a Negro, while he was allegedly attempting to burglarize a DeSard Street fish market.

Williams was said to have been carrying a knife when he was spotted, but dropped it when the nightwatchman pulled his gun. The Negro was being held in the Ouachita Parish Jail later Saturday on a charge of burglary, after being turned over to city police officers.

He was taken into custody Friday by H. W. Griffin, operator of Griffin Night Patrol service here, and E. B. Boswell of Doyleine, La., who was passing through Monroe on a fishing trip.

According to Griffin, he was cruising past Young's Fish Market at 1710 DeSard Street about 3 a.m. Saturday when he was hailed by Boswell.

Boswell, he said, had been at the fish market trying to buy bait, but when he was unable to get a reply there, he called Griffin to ask if he knew a place he could obtain the bait.

Griffin, glancing toward the fish market, suddenly noticed that the door had been torn open. He investigated and saw Williams in (Continued on Second Page)

Senate Group Would Ban Aid To Italy And France Unless EDC Is Ratified

WASHINGTON, July 10—UP—The Senate Foreign Relations committee put the spur to France and Italy Saturday, voting tentatively to stop foreign aid deliveries to the two nations by Dec. 31 if they have not ratified the European Defense Community agreement.

The group agreed unanimously to write the provision into its $3.1 million foreign aid authorization bill on which it has virtually completed work. Final approval is expected Monday.

The restrictive provision would put a much tighter economic squeeze on the only two nations than the so-called Richards amendment which was written into the House foreign aid measure.

The Richards amendment cuts off deliveries of military aid and equipment paid for out of funds authorized for fiscal 1954 and 1955 to any country which had not ratified the EDC pact which is designed to rearm West Germany and bring her into Allied defense plans.

But the Richards amendment would have no immediate effect because deliveries in the "pipeline" now are going on from programs in previous years, in fact, as far back as 1951.

The Senate committee, by putting a ban on any deliveries as of Dec. 31, can stop materials in the "pipeline."

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said "the whole purpose is to indicate that ratification of EDC or something of the sort ought to be speeded up."

The New Jersey Republican said he did not know the State Department's attitude on the matter. He said he would confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as soon as possible.

Cline said the water tanks were full but it was necessary to stop the flow through the heavy pipes while they were being worked on.

"We completed that phase of the job Saturday morning," he said, "and there will be no more disruptions of water service while the work is going on."

The commissioner expressed his appreciation for the "cooperation and good spirit" given the utilities department, while the work was going on.

Cline said Saturday morning two power regulators have been installed on power lines in the northeast section of Monroe, thereby making up for the drain of air-conditioning units and fans on the power in that area. He said he believed the regulators would supply enough regular power for residents there.

The commissioner added that an extra crew of men has been added to work on the power lines in an attempt to keep up with the summer output of electricity.

Williams was said to have been carrying a knife when he was spotted, but dropped it when the nightwatchman pulled his gun. The Negro was being held in the Ouachita Parish Jail later Saturday on a charge of burglary, after being turned over to city police officers.

Paducah, Ky., Workers Okay Company Plan

Plans To Obtain Taft-Hartley Writ Are Laid Aside

WASHINGTON, July 10—UP—The strike of 1,000 atomic energy workers at Paducah, Ky., is over, the White House announced late Saturday.

Some 3,500 other strikers at the government's other big atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., already had started back to work, when the Paducah workers decided to go back to their jobs.

The voluntary action made it unnecessary for President Eisenhower to crack down with an anti-strike injunction under the Taft-Hartley law. He was prepared to do so had the workers not voted to return voluntarily.

All the strikers are members of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union. The strike was the first of atomic workers at the two plants which produce all the Uranium-235 used in A and H-bombs.

Informed officials reported the Paducah strikers voted 234 to 95 to return to work under proposals worked out by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell and CIO officials.

They began voting shortly after noon, about the same time the White House announced that Mr. Eisenhower was deferring action temporarily on getting an anti-strike injunction.

It was evident the postponement was in anticipation that the strikers would return to their jobs voluntarily.

During the walkout production was not affected. Supervisory employees kept the plants operating, but it was apparent that situation could not continue too long.

The presidential fact-finding board which hurriedly investigated the dispute, made its report to Mr. Eisenhower Saturday—the preliminary step which would have opened the way to an anti-strike injunction.

However, the White House said the board's findings now will not be made public until Monday.

Friday night the Paducah strikers voted to reject the back-to-work settlement. But, as one union official there said, that was because they wanted more time to consider it.

Morehouse Parish Man, 38, Drowns In Bartholomew

BASTROP, July 10 (Special)—A 38-year-old Morehouse Parish man drowned about 3:15 p.m. today, while swimming with three companions in Bayou Bartholomew, three miles north of Bastrop, Chief Criminal Deputy W. C. Beasley of the Morehouse Parish Sheriff's Department, identified him as Almos Crook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Crook, who resides six miles south of Bonita.

According to Carl Pettis and M. L. Pettis, two of Crook's swimming companions who came to Bastrop to prompt the search, the men had been swimming, but were wading when Crook stepped into a deep hole, and drowned before his companions could reach him. The third companion was not identified.

When the Pettis brothers reported the incident to the Morehouse Parish Sheriff's Department, Deputy Beasley sent Jack and Red McIntyre, of Bastrop, to the scene of the tragedy to dive for Crook's body. The body had just been recovered when Beasley arrived on (Continued on Second Page)

Western Union Robbed By Tall, Natty Gunman

NEW ORLEANS July 10—UP—A tall, neatly-dressed gunman robbed a branch office of Western Union in downtown New Orleans today and fled with $204 after forcing the woman manager into a back room.

Miss Hazel Hennington, 29, manager of the office at the time of the holdup, said the blond man, about 25 years old, walked up to the counter. As she approached the counter to ask him if she could be of service, Miss Hennington said he pulled a gun and demanded "all the money you got."

She put the money on the counter.

Waving his gun, the bandit ordered her into a room at the rear of the office. She complied.

Seconds later, Miss Hennington said she heard the front door slam and rushed out to a telephone and called the main Western Union office.

$400 Returned By Honest Bus Driver

Monroe has some honest city bus drivers. On Friday in connection with the operation of a DeSard road bus, M. Z. Worley, 206 Texas avenue, discovered a billfold as the bus neared Northeast State college.

He opened it and found $400 in bills. The name of the owner was found on an identification card.

As soon as he finished his day's run he saw that the money was restored to the owner, who was H. H. Brinsmade, who cheerfully saw that he received a substantial reward.

State's Voters To Say In Nov. Whether To Have Annual Legislative Meet

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, July 10 (AP)—In a historic move, the Louisiana Legislature has asked voters to decide in November elections whether they want to change the pace of law-making with annual sessions.

With startling ease, Sen. Robert Ainsworth's constitutional proposal bringing the issue before the public cleared the House 75-5 this week and the Senate earlier with only one dissenting vote.

The annual sessions bill had been growing rusty so long on the House calendar it appeared to have little chance of springing to life.

The Ainsworth proposal—strongly backed by the Legislative Council—would keep the present 60-day sessions in even years and add 30-day sessions in odd years strictly limited to fiscal matters.

Proposals call it as the answer to "the evils" of special sessions, in which governors alone propose what will be done.

Will annual sessions mean saving taxpayers millions of dollars through tighter control of the state pocketbook?

Or faster spending, more politics, increased pressure by ever-present lobbyists?

If the suggestion wins public favor, the first 30-day budget session will convene the second Monday in May, 1955. Within a year, then, the Legislature could take a second look at the state's 1954-55 all-time record spending.

Ainsworth labels the proposal "the most far reaching step in years to handle state finances on an efficient basis."

What do other legislators think? There was almost no debate in the House or Senate.

Rep. Percy Roberts of East Baton Rouge Parish sees it "as good legislation simply because we do not have enough time in 60-day sessions every two years to consider all bills and appropriations."

Taking another view, Rep. Algie D. Brown of Caddo, who was one of the five opponents, conceded "I believe the people will vote for annual sessions, unless there is organized opposition."

"But I voted against the bill because I'm certain the trend will be to spend more money."

"Look at the tremendous amount of tax money spent in the 1954 Legislature. I'm convinced we'll just spend more every time we meet. I was for annual sessions at first, but this reckless spending changed my mind."

Supporting annual sessions, Rep. John Garrett of Claiborne agreed with Brown the public is likely to approve. Unlike Brown, he opposed the idea at first—"I didn't believe the people and business could stand the shock of a Legislature every year."

"But because of the record spending in the session just ended, I'm convinced it will be much easier to anticipate revenues."

The Legislature, meeting every two years, must appropriate for state operations two years in advance.

Garrett contended yearly appropriations "will save taxpayers millions of dollars in the long run because we'll have a better grasp of exactly what spending is necessary."

And the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Rep. Bryan Lehman, of St. Charles, commented "There is no doubt in my mind annual sessions will improve the handling of state funds."

"Water can be squeezed out of a lot of budget items. The more chances legislators have to say 'no' to department heads, the better off we'll be."

But the legislative tendency to say "no" was rarely exhibited in the recent session. The general appropriations bill climbed 18 million dollars during its easy trip through both houses.

And some legislators even complained about the reluctance of members to vote "No" on a flood of special appropriations reaching more than 22 million dollars.

The Ainsworth proposal would bar any legislation but budget or fiscal matters and prohibit new taxes or tax raises in the 30-day session. But by a vote of three-fourths the members in each house, they could expand to other issues.

Some critics sharply remind it would be easy to get around the limitations set up for the 30-day budget session by simply tacking on an appropriation to major controversies.

They point to the stock law bill in the 1954 session as an example. Both the original Blair bill and one of the Roberts bills carried appropriations.

Others complain annual sessions just means "more legislating."

The Legislative Council, in an extensive study of the question, contended the 30-day budgetary sessions would help pull the Legislature out of its fiscal straitjacket, give it more room to act with time for consideration.

The council said annual sessions mean "more time in which to maintain a control and check of the administrative departments, more careful supervision of expenditures."

California, Colorado and Maryland now follow the practice of frequent fiscal review by the Legislature.

6 Students Escape Training Institute

Local police authorities reported last night that six students had escaped from Louisiana Training Institute. The group is believed to have left the institute about 8 p.m.

Five of the boys were described as 16-year-olds, while the remaining one was said to be 14 years old. All were reported wearing khaki trousers and white T shirts.

At 10 p.m. there were no reports of any of the group having been apprehended.

The 4,192 cars produced in the United States in 1950 were valued at nearly five million dollars.

take me to work, I'd still be in there. I don't know whether I would have awakened or not."

McKenzie said his fellow worker, who he said he did not know by name, apparently had seen the smoke when he drove up and had broken through the screen door into the living room. The wooden door was left standing open.

"I think the noise of his opening the door woke me up," McKenzie said, "and I ran out the door."

McKenzie said he had managed to get the telephone receiver out a window and tried to call the fire department, but couldn't get the number.

"The flames were all over the place," he said. "I couldn't take anything else out."

Firemen, who checked back in at the fire station at 7:15 a.m., said the blaze also damaged a house next door to McKenzie's, which was owned by Cecil Ford. The blaze there was extinguished before it could spread, however.

McKenzie, who was staying at a nearby neighbor's house last Saturday, said the house had belonged to his mother, who died last month. He had lived there alone since then.

Dr. J. N. Jones, Morehouse Parish coroner, announced a verdict of accidental drowning.

The body was first taken to Blackwell and Golden Funeral Home, Bastrop, but later transferred to Catron-Gay Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

Woods and Mrs. Claude Kimbrell, both of Wilmet, Ark.; Mrs. Robert Dunnigan, Parkdale, Ark.; Mrs. L. O. Morris, Lake Providence, and Mrs. D. W. Sims, 210 Fairfield Avenue, Bastrop.

Late tonight funeral arrangements had not been completed, pending the arrival of brothers and sisters from distant points. They are expected to reach Bastrop by Monday. However, services will be under the direction of Catron-Gay Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

The 47-year-old premier told a three-hour and 15 minute meeting of his cabinet before leaving Paris that he has done "everything possible" to persuade the U.S. to play a full role at the Geneva talks or face the loss of millions of Asians to the Communists.

At the same time a British foreign office spokesman in London announced that Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden have asked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to return to the Geneva conference.

The British hope for Dulles' return to Geneva was expressed at the Washington talks with President Eisenhower and again since the Britons returned home, the spokesman said. Eden flies back here Monday.

Mendes-France told his ministers that he still hoped that either Dulles or Under-Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith will come back to Geneva.

Legislature Sets Record For Spending Tax Money

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, July 10 (AP)—The 1954 Legislature, in a fight-filled 60 days, spent more money than any in Louisiana history and took positive action to continue public school segregation, the first Legislature to act since the U. S. Supreme Court ruling.

Gov. Robert Kennon, whose power was thought shaky before the session, emerged in steady control of the Legislature, hailed by some as the smartest political maneuverer since Huey Long. The Legislature went home last Thursday.

The Legislature also enacted a two part program to bar cattle from Louisiana highways, the first stock law in state history. It also passed the stormy right to work bill, banning compulsory labor union membership.

The 1954 session will be remembered appreciatively by future legislators for a half million dollar appropriation to air condition the first four floors of the Capitol, including both the House and Senate chambers.

The Communist party and other subversive organizations were outlawed under a measure approved by the Legislature and jail sentences were provided for members.

The session began with a scrap over a resolution opposing any cuts in old age assistance. This resolution swept through the House with little opposition, but was defeated in the Senate.

In the morning of the 60th day, the Legislature closed on another fight, a filibuster which killed Rep. Shady Wall's bill to make possession of a federal gambling stamp evidence of violation of state gambling laws.

Administration forces sped two bond issues—one 50 million dollars for highways, the other 42 million for institutions—through the Legislature in the first month of the session, despite opposition of major state newspapers and even some of Kennon's leaders.

When the question was raised as to constitutionality of the highway bonds, the administration tacked an amendment on a constitutional proposal written by Kennon's opponents to specifically validate the bond issues.

Rep. James Gardner of Caddo Parish authored the measure which would require future bond issues to be submitted to the people. The Kennon bond issues were simple legislative acts. Attempts were made in both houses to force submission to the voters.

In a spending spree that topped all previous Legislatures, the lawmakers also:

1. Boosted the general appropriations bill from 516 million dollars to 534 million before final passage, the largest single money measure in Louisiana history.

2. Raised teachers and school employees pay, an estimated 16 million dollars yearly.

3. Passed 22 million dollars in special appropriations.

4. Voted a bonus to veterans of the Korean War, costing an estimated 10 million dollars.

Segregation was not considered an issue in pre-session speculation, but the Supreme Court ruling ending school segregation burst like a bomb in the second week of the session.

The first action by the Legislature, after a conference of top state officials and legislative leaders, was passage of a resolution urging positive action to retain public school segregation.

Next a 10-man legislative committee was named to plot schemes to bypass the ruling.

The committee came up with a two-part program, designed for swift action after the Supreme Court hands down its enforcement decree in the fall, and to help paralyze a equalize the separate school system.

The first part, a constitutional amendment and two legislative acts, were passed by the Legislature. But the financial aids to parish school boards never got out of the House.

The measures approved by the Legislature, one of which will be voted on in the November general election, provide that separate schools be maintained under the inherent police power of the state and "not because of race."

The Legislature would be authorized to have the people vote on constitutional amendments for education at any time, instead of just at general elections.

School superintendents were directed to assign children to schools before the session begins and a series of appeals from the assignment were provided. This does not apply to private schools.

The right to work law, touted before the session as the hottest issue, lived up to its advance billing, passing the Senate after 26 hours of stormy committee hearings and 6½ hours of tense floor debate.

The House proceedings were quieter and shorter, nine hours of committee hearings and 5½ hours of debate. But the attempts to amend the bill and delay action were just as determined.

The right to work leaders firmly controlled their majority and brushed aside any suggestion of change.

Ellis Complains Ellender Refuses A Joint Debate

KENTWOOD, July 10 —UP— Senatorial candidate Frank B. Ellis, Democratic National Committeeman stumping today through the Louisiana parishes, charged that Sen. Allen J. Ellender has consistently refused to meet him in joint debate.

He said that both had been invited to appear together on a New Orleans television program and before the New Orleans League of Women Voters, and that Ellender had declined both invitations.

"I challenge him to give me the real reason," said Ellis. "Was it because the phantom senator feared a joint debate before these outstanding women? No other conclusion can be drawn. The phantom senator is about as hard to catch as a ball of mercury, and is as inconsistent as only a phantom can be."

Ellis ridiculed the position of Ellender on his claim to seniority in the U.S. Senate, charging that "on many occasions the phantom senator has deserted his post for other political endeavors."

"When Ellender was severely criticized for deserting his Washington post to return to Louisiana to campaign for the political machine, he explained: 'It is more important to elect a governor than to remain in Washington.'"

On three different occasions he himself sought the governorship, explaining "in Washington I am only one voice among 96; but as governor of the state of Louisiana I shall be the only voice."

CIO Challenges Analysis Showing Recession Ended

WASHINGTON, July 10 —UP— The CIO and the Joint Congressional Economic committee differed sharply Saturday about whether business is on the upgrade or another recession is around the corner.

CIO President Walter Reuther charged President Eisenhower's economic advisers with a misleading and over-optimistic appraisal of the business outlook and again asked the chief executive to convene a "keep America at work" conference.

Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the congressional committee, said "the recessionary trend which began last year has been stopped" and that apprehension must now give way to "optimism."

Wolcott made his statement in releasing the July issue of the committee's monthly publication, "Economic Indicators," which summarizes economic trends.

"Economic developments have proven conclusively the error of prophecies of gloom and doom emanating from many quarters only a few weeks ago," Wolcott said.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks echoed Wolcott's words to some extent. In a speech at Charlotte, N. C., Saturday he predicted a fall spurt "that may require even optimistic forecasters to revise their figures upward."

Reuther said in his letter to the President, that, contrary to reports from White House economic advisers, "there is nothing to indicate a general pickup in economic activity." He said the advisers had been guilty of a "shoddy economic analysis" and had misled the pub-

Driver Licenses For Service Men To Remain Good

Members of the armed forces of the United States, outside of Louisiana, holding a valid drivers license before entering service, will not be required to purchase another license on the original expiration date. Their license will be considered valid during the entire period of service plus sixty days after receiving a discharge.

However, according to Colonel Chester B. Owen, director of the lie by being overly optimistic. Reuther urged Mr. Eisenhower to "call a broad representative conference of industry, agriculture, labor, consumers and government." Mr. Eisenhower previously rejected a similar appeal.

department of public safety, all other motor vehicle drivers are required to renew their licenses on or before the date of expiration of the present license. Applicant for a drivers license or renewal of a license, Owen said, shall pay a fee of two dollars, this license to be valid for two years or the nearest birthday date two years subsequent to the issuance of the license.

Colonel Owen stressed the fact that the new law, which went into effect July 1, requires that a penalty of one dollar shall be paid if a license has expired within a six month period. If this expiration period is over six months, he said, there will be a penalty of two dollars. This law is now in effect, and there is no "grace period," the director stated. A drivers license can be obtained 60 days in advance, however, without losing time. Colonel Owen advised every driver to take a look at his drivers license and renew it on or before the expiration date in order to save the required penalty.

Death Claims Sister-In-Law Of President

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 10 —UP—Mrs. Helen Eakin Eisenhower, wife of the president of Pennsylvania State University and sister-in-law of President Eisenhower, died at her home here Saturday after a long illness. She was 49.

A native of Manhattan, Kan., she met her future husband, Milton S. Eisenhower, when she was 19 and a sophomore at Kansas State College.

Eisenhower spent the next two years as vice-consul in Edinburgh, Scotland, and she transferred to George Washington University when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy E. Eakin, moved to Washington, D. C.

She and Eisenhower were married Oct. 12, 1927. Mrs. Eisenhower had been continued to her home for the past two months. Dr. John H. Light attributed death to a blood clot.

With her at the time of death was her husband and a son, Lt. Milton S. Eisenhower Jr., a member of the Army Reserve now on active duty. A daughter, Ruth, who was attending summer camp at Brown Lodge, Vt., was enroute home.

The Strange Case Of K. C. Wu

In a recent issue of a national magazine published by the Cowles family there appeared an article of such a nature as to require some questioning. Written by K. C. Wu, former Nationalist Chinese Governor of Formosa, it attacked the Chinese Nationalists, accused them of being a virtual police state and hinted that they would, under the leadership of the eldest son of Generalissimo, deliver themselves into the tender mercies of the Communists.

The best way to "get at" a subject of this sort is to delve deeply into the background of all concerned. Consider the magazine as a source. Entitled "Look," it is one of the slick bound "news" magazines of America, one which frequently has been accused of thought control as have been the publications of Henry Luce and several others. The Associate Editor of "Look," (apparently the editorial director) is one Fleur Cowles.

It was Fleur Cowles who attempted and actually published a sophisticated, society dress pattern magazine entitled "Flair." Fleur's "Flair" failed as many predicted, perhaps because few people, even the snobs, could understand what the magazine was all about. The policies of "Look" are partially made by this person who, unsuccessful in the society magazine world, now finds more cash in the "News" field. "Look" has at numerous points, been accused by many people, in and out of public life, of being a "liberal" magazine. It has supported many of the tenets usually associated with such a political philosophy. So much for the magazine.

K. C. Wu is a different story. Wu is a brilliant man. In China, he was mayor of Shanghai under Generalissimo Chiang and after the Japanese ran them out of that area, Wu became mayor of Chungking. He was highly regarded by his Chinese friends. An excellent administrator, he became the mayor of Shanghai after the defeat of the Japanese and remained in that position until the Communists appeared on the scene. Upon the withdrawal to Formosa, K. C. Wu became the governor of that island and remained as such until last year when he came to the United States for medical consultation.

Almost immediately upon his arrival, K. C. Wu began to attack the Chinese Government. He found it "popular and profitable." The background to this would seem to lie in the fact that he apparently desired the post of Ambassador to this nation, one already occupied by a very great and able man, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo. The Generalissimo chose to ignore the first few attacks, severe as they might have been. However, as they increased in intensity and furor, numerous members of the Chinese government in this nation attempted to halt them by the means of a polite request.

The statements made by Wu were freely printed on Formosa and Wu's friends became former friends. Amazed Chinese "put the heat" on the Generalissimo to call him a traitor. Such was still not the case. It is reported that the Generalissimo sent Wu's old teacher to the United States to talk with Wu and to say that all would still be forgiven if he would return home and resume his occupation.

Wu had, in the meantime, written this article for the Cowles magazine and had been amply paid for it. However, he agreed to return home and went to the magazine to retract the forthcoming article. He was informed it is reported that such could not be the case, and upon that, Wu even attempted to hand back the money paid for the article and again, he was refused.

So, the article was run. It appeared all over Formosa as has every other statement made by K. C. Wu. The Generalissimo has not as yet seen fit to add a word to the situation although his good friend General Claire Chennault has emphatically stated to this newspaper that K. C. Wu is an out and out traitor to his government and to the Chinese people.

So much for the background, now, the charges made in Wu's article. In "Look" magazine, he states that the military forces on the island "are simply not effective." This is contrary to every report brought to the United States by the military mission to Formosa. The Nationalist Marines were trained by the son of Admiral Carney, the U. S. Chief of Naval Operations and these Marines are considered by every standard as "excellent and ready to attack the coast" (in the event that the Nationalists are given the necessary offensive supplies).

He has stated that "Formosa is not unlike a totalitarian state." Senator Smith of New Jersey (H. Alexander) said that "we found marked improvement in the political stability and economic conditions on Formosa." Numerous journalists who have returned from the island, state without a doubt that "Formosa is getting bigger doses of Democracy every day."

Wu states that there is a "dictatorship" on the island. Every scrap of statement made by Wu has been cabled to Formosa and reprinted in the newspapers there. If the government was a dictatorship, could that be the case? Wu himself, (before these attacks began) stated upon his arrival to this nation (May 31, 1953) that there was a true democracy there and that "the people and their provincial government are really one."

Wu stated that Chiang had lost the support of the Chinese elsewhere. Only a minority of the Chinese students are returning to the mainland. Communist propaganda is responsible for this, especially in the British areas where Chinese government officials are Communist. Wu charged that the elections were frauds and the candidates were handpicked officials. Wu failed to add that these were party officials of the Koumintang Central Committee and had nothing whatsoever to do with the Chinese government. Does the President of the United States not handpick his Vice President and party leaders?

Wu stated that his son could not come to the United States because of the forcefulness of Chiang's government. In short, he hinted that his son was a hostage being held. That is prevarication as the son is of draft age and must, as a Chinese citizen, serve his "hitch." After his service, he will be handed his passport, it is reported.

Wu stated that Chiang's son was a near Communist who operated his secret police on the lines of the MVD. Mr. Wu hinted that because the son was educated in the Soviet Union, he would be a Communist. The son, as head of the secret police, is solely responsible for the elimination of the Communists, a most thorough elimination.

The Generalissimo was also Soviet educated, but is a number one enemy of Communism. Because of this education, he knows Communism.

So on, ad infinitum.

The "charges" against Chiang and his government are continuing to mount. They are published in every left wing newspaper and magazine in the nation. It is unfortunate that the American press must fall to such new lows.

In the best interest of its readers, "Look" should publish the truth about this Wu article.

More On Boats And The Ouachita

Last week, the News-Star published an editorial on the tragedies suffered last week end in this area. The Outdoor Boating Club of America has through the cooperation of several local citizens, sent the Morning World eight easy to follow and simple rules by which lives can be saved afloat.

The OBC asks that you use common sense and courtesy. Watch out for others, slow down near other boats and swimmers, and remember always to carry a life preserver or buoyant cushion for each passenger.

Rule One—KNOW YOUR BOAT. Every boat has its limitations. Learn what you can expect from your boat.

(2)—DON'T OVERLOAD. Seats do not indicate capacity. Two or three adults may be a full load under certain conditions.

(3)—BALANCE YOUR LOAD. Distribute weight evenly in the boat—from side to side and bow to stern.

(4)—KEEP LOW. Step in the center of the boat when boarding or changing seats.

(5)—WATCH THE WEATHER. Head for shore before a storm breaks and if you are caught on the water, seat the passengers on the floor.

(6)—HEAD INTO THE WAVES. If the waves are high, head your boat at an angle towards the waves at slow speed.

(7)—USE THE RIGHT MOTOR. Too much power can damage the boat and may even swamp it. Look for the recommended horsepower plate as suggested by the OBC.

(8)—AVOID SHARP TURNS. Fast sharp turns are hard on equipment and sometimes, on people. Take it easy.

It is hoped that the summer will progress completely unmarred by a single new tragedy.

The Genocide Pact Was Signed!!!

The Christian Science Monitor runs, or formerly ran, a "question and answer" section in its editions at least one day each week. The Morning World would like to reprint a question sent to the Monitor and then, the answer. On several occasions, this newspaper has stated that the Genocide Pact was signed by the United States. It reprinted an article or "Bulletin" put out on March 1st, this year to that effect by the "United Nations." In any case, the question reads:

Is it true that the Genocide Treaty was signed in 1948 by Ernest A. Gross for the United States and that last year, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., voted in approval of a General Assembly resolution which called for its ratification? If so, when do we, the people of the United States get to vote on this?

The answer as it appeared in the Monitor is as follows: "The Genocide Convention, making the mass killing of national, ethnic, racial or religious groups a crime under international law, was voted unanimously by the United Nations General Assembly on December 9th, 1948. Two days later, Ernest A. Gross, Deputy U. S. Delegate signed it on behalf of the United States government. The American electorate will not vote on the pact. Ratification, if and when, will be voted by two thirds majority of the Senate, as with any other treaty."

The "Monitor" failed to completely describe the Genocide pact in the light of final disintegration of the sovereignty of the United States. That this pact is not a dagger straight into the heart of the U. S. is denied only in the most rabid internationalist and Marxist quarters. Modeled off the "All races law" of the USSR, it would turn American citizens over to an international court because they might have committed "mental harm" to citizens of another nation.

In short, the constitutional right of free speech will be revoked.

Why was the Genocide pact "signed" by the United States?

If it was approved by the "UN," as a part of the "UN Law," it could be domestic law if the law of treaty powers is still in effect. On five other occasions, the courts have held that "UN Law" is the law of the land because the U. S. has a treaty with the "UN."

Eisenhower, The Chinese Reds And The 'United Nations'

Following the speech by Senator William Knowland of California, the Republican Majority Leader in the Senate, a speech which took the "ifs," "ands," and "buts" out of the California Senator's position, the President, surrounded as usual by the coterie of "Advance" Republicans, declared that he would oppose the seating of the Red Chinese in the "UN" but cautioned against "removing the U. S." from that hapless, unfortunate body.

Senator Knowland who has been affectionately termed "the Senator from Formosa" by the left wingers and Communists, is one of the very few Senators who know the real history and the present consequences arising in Asia. He is joined by only several other Senators. The President, perhaps on the advice of the British and his left wing palace guard, has modified the Senate by his statement.

Knowland's well timed and adroit speech threw the British and the French into a panic. As this newspaper stated several days ago, the British told Mr. Eisenhower that they were going to support Red China whether he and the people of the "U. S. liked it or not."

Now, or at least until Eisenhower's speech or conference, the French and British believed that they were "lost." After all, hadn't they committed the United States to eventual recognition of Red China? So, When the President was contacted (he obviously was contacted), he became at odds with his majority leader. Hence Knowland's later statement.

The President and the Secretary of State say that they will even use the veto in the "Security Council" even knowing that the veto can itself be vetoed by the "general Assembly." They will wash their hands in the blood of all Americans slain by the murdering Communists should they, as a final act of antipathy, and an act which has long been needed, not pull this nation out of the "United Nations."

Every mother of every son, every parent, wife, child or loved one of all Americans slain or wounded in the Korean war, should demand that this nation pull out of the "UN" should Red China be seated.

The president should have backed the position of his majority leader, a correct one. The Communists have already a large enough espionage service in this nation, and if for no other reason, let not these Communist murderers in the "United Nations" (i.e. the United States).

It cannot be done, it must not be done.

What Is S. J. Resolution 87?

Last year, there appeared in the Senate, a resolution proposing an amendment to the United States Constitution. It was sponsored (by request) by Senator Ralph Flanders. It was read twice and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. It states (verbatim).

JOINT RESOLUTION — Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States recognizing the authority and law of Jesus Christ. Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled that the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by conventions or legislatures in three fourths of the several states:

Article, Section 1) This nation devoutly recognizes the authority and law of Jesus Christ, Savior and Ruler of nations through whom are bestowed the blessings of Almighty God. Section 2) This amendment shall not be interpreted so as to result in the establishment of any particular ecclesiastical organization, or in the abridgement of the rights of religious freedom, or freedom of speech and press, or of peaceful assemblage. Section 3) Congress shall have power in such cases as it may deem proper, to provide a suitable oath or affirmation for citizens whose religious scruples prevent them from giving unqualified allegiance to the Constitution as herein amended.

There is the proposal. Readers, what do you make of it? This newspaper may be wrong, but it believes that God has generally been recognized as the Supreme Ruler of the United States as well as of all mankind. His son, Jesus is regarded by a great majority of Americans as the Son of God and the Savior. Is the proposal aimed at the Jewish people and the Mohammedans who also believe in God but do not recognize the authority of Christ (a privilege guaranteed by the Constitution) or could this possibly be an adroit attempt to permit Communists and atheists to "take an oath" in order to hold federal jobs?

In the name of all that is decent, to whom would such people swear an oath if it were not to God? Would they swear it to the United States Constitution? If it was not backed by God Almighty, what good would it be? Communists swear only to the Marxist International State and their leaders. Atheists take oaths to no deity as they do not regard such as existing.

This is an interesting piece of legislation or proposed legislation. Perhaps Senator Flanders should explain his intent and his purpose. What has happened to the bill? These are questions which should be answered.

As Strong As Grace

MY COURAGE is my faith in God

As now I hope to win

My only fear is weakness, as . . .

I know that I am soft and frail . . .

As human beings are . . . And yet my hands reach out to touch . . .

That everlasting star . . . The star that guides me to the goal . . .

That God has set for me . . . Where I may share His kingdom great . . .

For all eternity . . . My hands reach out in fervent prayer . . .

For that enduring grace . . . And all the strength I need to meet . . .

The problems I must face . . . Because in courage, faith and hope . . .

Wherever I may plod . . . I am no stronger than the grace . . .

That I receive from God.

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have just finished reading your editorial in Monday's issue of the Morning World. I wish to say that I am 100 per cent in agreement with you, "Get the U. S. out of the U. N., and the U. N. out of the U. S." And too, I am in full accord with a proposal that ex-President Herbert Hoover made about three years ago, "To withdraw from the U. N., and establish a western hemisphere U. N." Founded strictly upon the policies of the "Monroe Doctrine." Let the eastern peoples have their own way, and the U. S. keep out of their difficulties and attend strictly to our own business at home. Withdraw diplomatic relations with Russia and her satellites; and set up an iron curtain against them to prevent them infiltrating our country and obtaining information about our secret affairs. And completely delete the Marshall Plan of foreign aid; those wretches are as able to work as Americans. If they have anything they want; they must pay cash for it. This old way of handing out billions of dollars in cash, arms, and ammunition for them to slaughter our boys with is too outrageous.

Of course, if we divorce the U. N. and set up a line of defense of our own; we will have a heck of a squabble with old "Boss" Winnie. But Britain has been squabbling with the Americans for more than two hundred years; it came to a showdown in 1775, and it may as well come to a showdown in 1954. The showdown must come or else we must take off our hats to old "Boss Winnie and Malenkov," and kiss our American freedom "farewell."

I think it's time for us to have a house cleaning from the Executive to the Judiciary. The whole mess is nothing but a rubber stamp for the United Nations. Well, by this time American people ought to see what a deplorable predicament that F. D. R. and H. S. T. have gotten our country into. They are the fathers of the United Nations. They are the ones that pledged our government to the debauchery of penalizing Americans by deliberately taking their hard earned money and giving it to peoples who are too trashy and lazy to work. They are the ones that initiated the UNESCO system of education. They are the ones that set up a more communistic government in the United States than ever existed in Russia.

Vice President Nixon would like to tell the whole truth, but he can't afford to, because he, Eisenhower, and the entire government are committed to the same debauchery that Roosevelt and Truman initiated, and they will be so long as they retain membership in the United Nations. Let's all of us support Senator Knowland.

Political Pawns

Greenville, S. C.

Editor, Morning World:

Should supreme court judges be men with extensive, previous experience and training as judges, with records of brilliant, impartial decisions, based upon their knowledge of law and the constitution? Should they confine their decisions to interpreting the law? Should they serve for life, and be selected as politicians by politicians for political reasons? Should they be elected for life or subject to recall at any time by the people in the district which elected them? Nine men, seven Democrats and two Republicans — known only as professional politicians — appointed by politicians for political reasons from politically strategic states — with one exception — (and you know why he was appointed) — only one ever having had any previous experience as a judge — One not even having a law degree — have set aside and nullified the decisions of scores of courts of the past — supreme courts — federal district courts — state courts — composed of many of the most brilliant legal minds — the most able, experienced judges — the most outstanding authorities on constitutional law that this country has ever produced. You know that this statement is true if you are an intelligent person.

You also know that these men have nullified and set aside the decision of the chief justice of the supreme court of the universe. If their decision is carried out, he decided that the Negro race should be a race on this earth. Was there a reason and a purpose in that decision? What has happened in the past to nations and individuals that have sought to set aside his decrees? Read your history!

These nine men have signed the death warrant of a minority race in this country, a race outnumbered ten to one. As its schools go, so will its churches and all of its other institutions. You know this is true if you are intelligent. Yet I am confident that an honestly taken poll would show that 85 per cent or more of the parents of Negro children in the south — the home of the Negro — and over 98 per cent of the parents of white children in the south would vote to separate but equal schools because they know that the races have lived in the south in peace and harmony for almost a hundred years with separate educational, religious, recreational and social activities, which explains why there has not been intermarriage here between the races.

These parents know that in an area where the races are so near equally divided (a condition that does not exist elsewhere in this country) if the children of both races are forced to spend their first twenty years together in grammar school, high school, college and recreation, intermarriage will begin when the children begin the first year of high school or college twenty years hence — and that within a hundred years from that time there will be few Negroes and few white persons in some southern states. It will be an amalgamation of two races. This is inevitable — Inevitable — as anyone with a thimblefull of intelligence must admit! But, what about the intervening hundred years? — Talk about divorce! — Talk about disrupted family life! — Talk about moral standards in the holding, seething, melting pot of races! "Man, you ain't seen nothin' yet!"

Was the court's decision unanimous because neither political party wanted the other party to have a better chance at the millions of votes they thought were involved? Did the judges say, "Let's make it unanimous so no one can say that this was a political decision?" If they did, the Republican national committee certainly got the wires crossed because, before the ink was dry on the decision, that committee came out with the claim that "This is one of the victories for our administration!" — and we have three Democrats saying "Seven of the nine judges are Democrats and eight were appointed by (so-called) Democrat presidents!"

Has a minority race been made pawns in a political game? If so, may almighty God forgive the guilty and have mercy upon the Negro race!

Louisiana Relies On Police Power To Maintain School Segregation

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

BATON ROUGE, July 10 (AP)—After nearly a century of racial segregation, Louisiana is ready to do battle again with its old nemesis: interpretation of the 14th amendment.

The state Legislature, following a tremendous and often brilliant debate, called on Louisiana's inherent police power to circumvent the U.S. Supreme Court's historic decision against public school segregation.

By an overwhelming vote, the Legislature passed three measures which direct school superintendents to assign children in advance of a term and declare education and segregation within the state's police power—never contested by the federal courts.

Louisiana also joined neighbor Mississippi in proposing an amendment to the federal constitution to "provide that there shall be no interference with or any limitation upon the power of any state to regulate health, morals, education, marriage and good order."

The segregation program is aimed at getting around the interpretation of the 14th amendment on which the high court based its decision to strike down the 1896 "separate but equal" facilities ruling that enabled 17 states to maintain separate white and Negro schools.

The original ruling involved an incident on a railroad running between New Orleans and Covington when a young Negro was arrested for refusing to relinquish his seat in the white section of a car.

The court upheld Louisiana's "Jim Crow" cars as long as "separate but equal" facilities were offered.

"We conclude," wrote Chief Justice Earl Warren in a unanimous opinion upholding the earlier verdict "that in the field of public education the doctrine of separate but equal has no place."

"Therefore we hold the plaintiffs and others similarly situated . . . are by reason of the segregation complained of deprived of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th amendment."

The cases before the court did not directly involve Louisiana, but its Legislature was the only one in the South in session when the opinion was handed down.

Gov. Robert Kennon quickly called a Mansion conference of top state officials, educators and lawmakers. Out of it came Sen. W. M. Rainach's 10-man legislative committee that drafted the segregation bills and looked to the inherent police power as "the keystone of our solution."

"Nowhere in its decision," Rainach told the senate, "does the court say segregation on any basis other than race is unconstitutional."

Thurgood Marshall, Negro attorney who handled the segregation cases before the U.S. Supreme Court, blasted Louisiana's program as a violation of the 14th amendment, which guarantees all citizens equal protection under law.

Denunciation also came from the Catholic Archbishop of New Orleans, Joseph Francis Rummel, who said the bills "were conceived in an atmosphere of haste, prejudice and conflict with the federal constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

At his urging, all segregation bills were amended to exclude any reference to private and parochial schools. In predominantly Catholic New Orleans, more than half the school children attend private schools.

The Archbishop, however, denied statements made on the Senate floor that he intended to abolish segregation in the Catholic school system this fall. According to archdiocesan figures, Louisiana has more Catholic Negroes than any state in the Union. It is the only Southern state with a sizeable population of Catholics, both white and Negro.

The Legislature's decision to drop all mention of private schools in the bills brought a counter-blast from strict segregation forces, who thought it would endanger Louisiana's plan to use the police power as a shield against the court's opinion.

If the police power is to be invoked, they argued, it must apply equally to all.

Louisiana's new battle with the 14th amendment has its origin in the bloody days of Reconstruction when the new addition to the federal Constitution was the passport which Confederate states needed to get back in the Union.

The 14th amendment was one of three put through during President Andrew Johnson's administration as a hammer held over the heads of Southern states to reinforce the rights of the newly freed slaves.

The secretary of state proclaimed the amendment was adopted on July 28, 1868, despite withdrawal of confirmation by New York and New Jersey and over the protests of 10 Southern states which ratified it through Carpet-bag legislatures kept in office by federal troops.

The amendment originally was designed to grant citizenship to the Negroes and provide that all residents, except tax-free Indians, shall be counted when apportioning the Congress on a population basis. Previously, slaves counted as three-fifths of a resident.

Louisiana twice rejected the 14th amendment before final acceptance in June, 1868.

A riot developed when it first came before a constitutional convention meeting at the old Mechanics Institute in New Orleans on July 30, 1866. White Democrats, opposed to the Republican Carpet Bag administration, opened fire on procession of Negro freedmen filing into the hall behind a drummer-boy.

When the melee was finally broken up by federal troops, 38 were dead and 146 wounded. Ratification was postponed until the following year, but it was again rejected after carpetbag Gov. James Madison Wells decided the amendment was "not radical enough."

Oddly enough, a test case involving a New Orleans slaughterhouse gave first attention to the amendment's famed "due process" clause: "Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty and property without due process of law, nor deny any person under its jurisdiction the equal protection under the law."

In an 1886 decision, the high court threw out a Louisiana statute that, in effect, gave a monopoly to a New Orleans firm by limiting slaughterhouses to a certain area of the city.

The court reviewed the history of the 14th amendment before making its segregation decision to find "what Congress and the state Legislature had in mind."

"It is not surprising," Warren wrote, "there should be so little in the history of the 14th amendment relating to its effect on public education, because education of the Negroes was practically nonexistent and practically all were illiterate."

Negroes heavily outnumbered whites in Louisiana in the post-bellum years but today the state has a population, according to the 1950 federal census, of 1,796,000 whites and 886,000 non-whites.

From Reconstruction Days up until the turn of the century, Louisiana financed public school education with a huge state lottery that ultimately died in scandal and disgrace.

In recent years, Louisiana has made tremendous strides toward equalizing white and Negro facilities. Besides more and better Negro schools, teacher salaries have been equalized and all children receive free school buses, textbooks and a hot school lunch.

Boost In Sales Tax Collection Quota Praised

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—State Revenue Collector Rufus Fontenot said today he was pleased that Gov. Robert Kennon signed a bill to increase the commission paid merchants for collecting the state sales tax. The increase is from one to two per cent.

He said, however, he regretted that the House Ways and Means Committee failed to report favorably on legislation he had sponsored to permit collection of the sales tax on a quarterly basis.

Such legislation, he said, would have cut in half the cost of collecting the taxes.

Pipe Fitter Ends 1-Man Picketing Of Union Offices

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (UP)—A 37-year-old pipe fitter halted his one-man picketing of his own union headquarters and said he probably would have to leave the state to find a job.

The pipe fitter, James Earl McDaniel, Jr., had walked his lone vigil since Tuesday before the offices of the United Association of Pipe Fitters and Plumbers, Local 60. He charged union officials with deliberately keeping him unemployed because he had worked against them in a June 21 election of officers.

However, Local 60 business manager Preston J. Thompson, Sr., Friday denied that the union was discriminating against McDaniel. He said some 150 union members were out of work.

Two Newspapers In New Orleans For Ellender

NEW ORLEANS, July 10 (AP)—The Times-Picayune and New Orleans States today endorsed the candidacy of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, seeking re-election for his third term.

The two newspapers, in their joint Sunday edition, said, "Serving in the Senate when both parties have been in power, Sen. Ellender has voted on the merits of issues rather than on the basis of whether measures were proposed by Democrats or Republicans."

The paper, which did not support Ellender in his first two campaigns, cited his opposition to the Brannan plan, civil rights measures and the Truman public health plan. It praised his work "for continuation of the federal flood control program which has meant salvation from frequent overflow to large areas in the lower Mississippi Valley."

"One of his opponents," the paper said editorially, "has criticized the senior senator because he has made periodic trips abroad to inspect United States installations and activities in other nations. These trips . . . have better equipped Sen. Ellender to vote intelligently on bills providing for-aid. Certainly . . . senators should seek first-hand knowledge of how that money is being spent."

Ellender will be opposed in the July 27 Democratic primary by Frank Ellis, Democratic national committeeman, and state Rep. W. Gilbert Faulk of Monroe.

Ellender Says Ike Can Obtain New Air Line

WASHINGTON, July 10 (UP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said today that he would talk to President Eisenhower about getting direct air service between New Orleans and Mexico City.

Sen. Ellender said that the Civil Aeronautics Board has indicated that the proposed link rests with the President.

"Evidently, the president could work out an agreement with the Mexican authorities, if he so desires," he said.

Delta Drug Destroyed By Early Fire

TALLULAH, July 10 (Special)—The Delta Drug Co., located in the heart of the Tallulah business district, was destroyed by fire this morning about 4 o'clock.

An estimate of the damage was not available late today, but the drug company was described as a total loss. The store is operated by Robert Lee.

Richard Marshall, a Tallulah cab driver, reported the fire.

Cause of the fire was not known and departments from Lake Providence, Vicksburg and Newellton were called to aid the Tallulah fire department.

Other buildings in the immediate area were not damaged by the fire.

Girl Scout Field Staffer Will Be In Monroe Soon

Miss Martha D. Auten of the Girl Scouts National Field Staff of Region 5 will arrive in Monroe July 19, to begin a series of meetings with area study committees in connection with the area development of Girl Scouts in the Fifth Congressional District, K was announced Saturday.

According to Mrs. James N. Riddle, Lone Troop consultant and member of the Ouachita parish Girl Scout council, plans are being made to incorporate all Girl Scouts in this area into a large North-east Louisiana Girl Scout Council.

Representatives from Farmerville, Bastrop, Delhi, Columbia, Ruston, Tallulah, Monroe and other interested communities will meet at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club Thursday, July 29, at 7:30 p.m., to formulate definite plans.

Mrs. Riddle, who is in charge of the arrangements, will preside at the meeting.

Reports from the various study committees will be heard, and Miss Auten will speak briefly in addition to answering questions. Three permanent representatives from each community will participate in the voting, but all interested citizens are invited to attend.

Miss Auten will meet with the study committees prior to the general area meeting. They are scheduled as follows:

July 19, camping; July 20, program; July 21, public relations; July 22, troop organization; July 23, training; July 26, staff and office; and July 27, finances.

All of these meetings will be held in the education building of the First Methodist Church in Monroe at 2 p.m.

Persons desiring additional information may call Mrs. Riddle at 2-4173 or the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout office at 2-1270.

CARVILLE, La., July 10 (AP)—They call it "The Honeymoon Express" and it's had a busy year. The Express is a station wagon owned by the American Legion post at this United States Public Health Service Hospital which treats victims of Hansen's disease (leprosy).

Marriages among patients are frequent and the couples use the Express for their trips to nearby Baton Rouge for wedding arrangements and marriage licenses.

There were two patients' weddings this week.

Max and Donna, both originally from Puerto Rico, were married at the Roman Catholic chapel here Tuesday by the Rev. Edward Boudreaux. Monday, Dana, an ex-serviceman from Florida, and Carita, a pretty Mexican from Texas, were married in a Baton Rouge church.

In a patient enrollment of 343, there are 21 married couples. All 21 met and married as patients.

Ten couples live in private apartments at Carville. They lead normal married lives, have their own gardens, and draw raw rations from the hospital commissary. Others live in regular hospital quarters, but a husband is allowed to visit his wife's quarters until 10 p.m.

Occasionally a couple has a baby. One had two pairs of twins.

The babies are separated from the mothers immediately after birth and placed with foster parents. The disease is not hereditary and babies born to patients usually are healthy. However, medical authorities fear these infants may inherit a tendency or tissue weakness to the disease.

Things are different now. In the old days, marriages among patients were discouraged. Couples had to arrange their authorized vacations to corresponding dates, get married outside, then return to face the music.

Now the hospital and patients even arrange parties to help celebrate.

And the Express is available to help with the parties and details of the wedding.

study committees prior to the general area meeting. They are scheduled as follows:

Florida Citizens Offer Reward For Slayer Of Girl

MIAMI, July 10 (UP)—Fear that a sadistic sex fiend may strike again aroused citizens into pledging more than $3,000 in rewards Saturday for the killer of little Judy Ann Roberts.

James T. Roberts, father of the seven-year-old victim, bought a gun to protect the remaining members of his family. The Baltimore attorney, whose vacation here took a tragic turn with Judy's kidnapping last Wednesday, grimly observed:

"I need one for protection."

Police Chief Walter Headley Jr. warned residents of this resort area to lock their homes securely before retiring. Detectives said a door was left unlocked when Judy Ann was snatched from her grandparents' home and carried to a nearby mangrove swamp.

Headley said for some reason most southerners don't lock up at night as well as northerners do. He said bolts should be used because "most locks can be picked by experts."

Miami's two daily newspapers fattened the reward fund with offers of $1,000 each to stimulate the search, which thus far has turned up no real suspect. Some 150 child molesters, peeping toms and vagrants were screened along the Florida Gold Coast but none was regarded particularly important to the case.

Many Miamians were leaving lights burning in their homes throughout the night. Two small boys who disappeared from their homes Friday night touched off a widespread search by frantic neighbors. A patrolman found them a block away from their home "just wandering around with their water guns."

New Fire Insurance Rate Schedule To Save People Million A Year In State

NEW ORLEANS July 10 (UP)—The Louisiana Rating and Fire Prevention Bureau has completed a new fire insurance rate schedule expected to save the people of Louisiana $1 million yearly.

Thomas H. Schneidau, chairman of the fire insurance division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission, said the new schedule when approved by the commission will replace one dating back to 1905.

Schneidau predicted that the new schedule will lower the cost of fire insurance in every town and city in the state.

The schedule, result of a one-year study by the bureau, was described as a "tremendous undertaking" by Schneidau. He said some 30 men had evaluated the fire safety and fire hazard conditions in every community of Louisiana.

These men checked fire-fighting equipment, water supplies, building materials, and virtually every other condition that would affect fire cause and prevention, Schneidau said.

The bureau is composed of representatives of insurance companies which sell fire insurance.

The commission took the new schedule under advisement and final agreement on all rates was expected within 30 to 60 days. The new rates will then go into effect immediately.

School employment accounted for 37,543 of the 84,203 persons who were on state and local government payrolls in Louisiana in October 1953, according to Supervisor Ben D. Smith of the U. S. census bureau's district office at Hot Springs, Ark.

On the average, full-time state and local government employees in Louisiana earned $242 for the month of October 1953. The comparable nationwide average for that month was $295 per full-time employee.

These numbers include some persons employed only part-time. When these are discounted to a full-time basis, state and local government employment in Louisiana is estimated at 78,886, or 280.0 for each 100,000 people. This compares with a nationwide average of 260.5 state and local government employees for every 100,000 persons.

Gold Strike In Old Ghost Town

BLAND, N. M., July 10 (UP)—The ghost of this old Jemez mountain mining town—dead for 40 years—is threatening to return to life again with a fresh gold strike.

F. D. Hofheins, the sole resident of this one time boom town, said he expects to begin shipping gold ore from a new flotation mill in about a year.

Before the turn of the century 3,000 persons jammed into the wooded area around Bland in hope of drawing a fortune from gold and silver veins under the slopes of the Jemez Mountains southwest of Santa Fe.

But the boom didn't last. The people moved away—and with the exception of Hofheins, the gold was forgotten.

Hofheins, 69, is the son of the man who founded the town. The silver-thatched prospector and his "boy," 39-year-old Sam Hofheins, single-handedly are cutting a 700-foot tunnel to meet a gold vein which runs from the top of a ridge about 600 yards from the town's best-preserved landmark—the old exchange hotel.

"What my father and the others did wrong was to try a cyanide treatment to separate the gold from the ore," Hofheins said. "When we start shipping again, this time we'll get 97 per cent of the ore's value."

Hofheins said he knows the gold is there.

"This is just the first time we've really had a chance to work it over. We plan to put in a 20 to 25 ton mill and use the flotation method of getting the gold out of the ore. This time we'll hit it."

He said the first gold shipments started from Bland in 1894, the year he came to the town to meet his father.

"I was only seven then," Hofheins recalled. "Dad had located the town the year before and the prospectors were really moving in."

"Some of my father's partners died, though, and the leases were bought up by a number of mining corporations," Hofheins said. But that cyanide treatment lost about 60 per cent of the value of the tailings. The corporations went broke, and the prospectors started moving away."

Hofheins returned to Bland three years ago after working at Sandia base and Los Alamos.

"Sam and I have been digging ever since to cut into the ledge underneath the ore. We figure we'll be in there soon, and expect to start shipping in about a year."

U. S. FORCES, Korea — Pvt. Billy B. Walker, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Walker, Choudrant, La., is now serving in Korea with the 712th transportation battalion.

Walker, who arrived on the peninsula last month, is a train crewman with the railway operating unit, which provides most of the transportation for UN troops and supplies.

A former switchman for the Illinois Central Railroad, he entered the Army last October and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

25 DIV., Korea — Army Pvt. Edward W. Clemons, whose wife, Shirley, lives at 120 Phillip St., West Monroe, La., is now serving in Korea with the 2d Infantry division.

The "Indianhead" division, which captured Heartbreak Ridge and Old Baldy, is now undergoing intensive training as part of the U. S. security force on the peninsula.

Course Slated In Elementary School Science

Teaching elementary school science will be emphasized in a short course which opens Monday at Northeast State. A workshop which will deal with the same field of study will begin Wednesday.

The two summer school features are being sponsored by the teacher education department, headed by William S. Smith, dean of the college.

Dr. Paul E. Blackwood, specialist for elementary science and elementary education, United States office of education, will be the principal consultant for both programs.

The short course will offer one semester hour of credit for which a $5 registration is charged. The workshop carries no cost since college credit is not given for attending the meetings.

Sessions of the short course are scheduled July 12-16 from 1 to 4 p. m. and July 17 from 9 to 12 a. m. Workshop meetings will be held on July 14-16 from 9 to 11 a. m. in Brown Auditorium.

Both the short course and workshop are open to all school personnel of Louisiana.

The conference is being offered by request to improve the teaching of elementary science in the state through the presentation of specific techniques and materials.

Dr. Blackwood's experiences include besides his work with the U. S. office of education several years of high school, college and university teaching. He also has written and co-authored a number of science books.

He holds the bachelor's degree from Kansas State College and both the master's and doctor of education degrees from Columbia University.

Music Program To Be Presented At Tech Friday

RUSTON, July 10 (Special)—Soprano Helen Roberts and baritone Richard Walker will present a program of Gilbert and Sullivan music at Louisiana Tech's Howard auditorium Tuesday evening.

Under the sponsorship of the Louisiana Tech Concert Association, the two stars of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company will present the program for Tech summer school students, regular LTCA members, members of the Tech summer camp and the general public. The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Trained originally for grand opera in Italy, Miss Roberts holds the distinction of having performed six Gilbert and Sullivan roles for a longer period than any other singer in the D'Oyly Carte company's history.

Having sung more than 30 baritone roles, Walker has toured the world singing Gilbert and Sullivan music. When he and Miss Walker appear here on their first concert tour, they will offer for the first time a program by costumed D'Oyly Carte stars in America.

The two singers have received press acclaim from newspapers throughout the English-speaking countries.

Stars Pit Power Hitting Against Oilers' Pitching

By RAY STEPHENS

EL DORADO, Ark., July 10 (AP)—The annual Cotton States League All-Star game here Monday night stacks up as a contest of power hitting against the solid pitching of the El Dorado Oilers.

In a departure from previous practice, the league-leading Oilers will meet a squad made up from the class C loop's other five members. In past years, All-Star teams from the league's eastern and western circuits played each other.

All-Star manager Willis Hudlin, who pilots the Greenville Bucks, will call on six hitters who boast .300 plus batting marks to start the game at the Oiler field. El Dorado manager Bill Adair, in turn, will send his ace lefthander, Bob Brown, to the mound in an effort to stymie the powerful All-Star attack.

Adair will have plenty of batting punch himself, including Frank Walenga, who leads the league with a .384 mark.

The pitching is El Dorado's stock in trade, and the game probably will revolve around the stars' ability to solve the deliveries of Brown, Elmer Toth and Clyde Baldwin.

Brown has the loop's best won-lost average—13 triumphs against only five defeats. Toth has won 10, lost four; and Baldwin's record is 7-4.

Brown probably will pitch the first three innings, with Toth and Baldwin following in that order.

Adair, a second baseman who has been benched by a shoulder injury, may play. If he does, Bob Scott will be moved from second base to rightfield, and either Gene Bilo or Buck Rodgers will sit out the contest.

Besides Walenga, El Dorado will depend on veteran Pel Austin, Scott and shortstop Jerry Anderson to carry the offensive burden. All are hitting near or above the .300 mark.

El Dorado's power, however, appears no match for Hudlin's All-Star crew. Hal Martin of Greenville (.343), Hugh Glaze of Greenville (.382), Moose Shetter of Meridian (.318), Merrill Smith of Pine Bluff (.336), Steve Korfonta of Hot Springs (.336) and Frank Shell of Greenville (.377) will take the field for the stars.

In addition, Hudlin will have Gene Pompella of Meridian (.295) and Gene Oden, a .285 hitter at Pine Bluff, in the starting lineup. For extra help, the Greenville pilot can call on Paul Flores of Monroe, a .265 hitter.

Hudlin's pitching doesn't shape up as strong as that of the Oilers. Roy Jayne, winner of last year's game, may get the starting nod. A veteran of the loop, Jayne has won 9 and lost 7 for Meridian this season.

Bill Halley of Monroe (.64); George Werrman of Pine Bluff (.72); Hal Cottle of Meridian (.82); and Maurice Kelly of Greenville (.64) round out the Stars' pitching staff.

Backing Shell behind the plate will be Monroe's Sam Chetta, a .257 hitter with good power.

Judge Emmett Hardy, president of the tri-state circuit, said he has assigned his "three best" umpires to the game. Charles Behrens will call balls and strikes, and James W. Duncan and Charles W. Smith will work the bases.

A meeting of the Cotton States League Sports Writers Association is scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Girls from each of the league's six cities will compete for the title of "Miss Cotton States League" before the game.

Game time is 8 p.m.

The probable lineups:

Gene Oden, Pine Bluff, ss .285.

Hugh Glaze, Greenville, 2b .382.

Mrs. Fred Key Golson, Jr., was before her marriage at the First Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, Miss Martha Agnes Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florence Leonard Jones. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Key Golson.

ABOVE—Mrs. W. J. Riley, Sr., Miss Polly Riley and Pat leave today for New York City, where they will sail on the Queen Elizabeth Wednesday for Cherbourg, France. They will travel in Europe for two months. An added pleasure will be the time spent in Dublin, Ireland with Riley relatives. They plan to return to New York, September 14.

LEFT—Mrs. Charles Stanley Passman, prior to her wedding, on Friday, was Miss Bonnie Jean Albritton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Albritton. The vows were said in the home of the bride's parents, on N. 10th Street in West Monroe at 7 o'clock in the evening.

With plans complete, the George Snellings family leave Wednesday for New York. On July 20 they sail on the Liberte' of the French Line, landing in La Havre. They will visit in France and Italy, but plan to spend most of the two months traveling in Ireland, Scotland and England. Pictured with Mr. and Mrs. Snellings are their daughter, Nancy and George M., III.

Miss Priscilla Beckcom's betrothal to James R. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Williams of this city, is announced by her mother, Mrs. Lois Tatum of Baton Rouge. The wedding will be solemnized on August 7, in the chapel of the First Methodist Church.

Miss Flora Lee Kitchingham's engagement and approaching marriage to Jennings Hill Wilkins, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Wilkins of West Monroe, is announced today by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Kitchingham. The wedding will be an event of August 6 at the First Christian Church.

If you keep your books in an open case, you should dust them frequently with a dry cloth or a soft hair brush. And if you live in a location where there is considerable soot, you might lay a strip of this paper over the tops of the books.

A handy knife rack is a real necessity in the kitchen. It will keep knives in good order and out of the drawers where the edges may become dulled or nicked. You can select your knife easily and avoid a possible painful cut at the same time.

For dinner Mrs. Chennault served Chinese delicacies. Assisting her were, Mrs. James Noe, Mrs. W. E. McCoy, Mrs. Alvin Hahn, Mrs. W. T. Brown and her sister, Miss Theresa Chan, who is visiting from Los Angeles.

Reverend James T. Horton performed the ceremony before an improvised altar with a background of candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, interspersed with palms. Floor baskets of white gladioli and daisies were at either side.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned on long princess lines. The bodice was of lace with sequin trim. In her hair she wore a bandeau of matching material also trimmed with sequins. She carried a white prayer book topped with a shower bouquet of stephanotis and centered with a white orchid.

Miss Roberta Jean Bowers Weds James Donald Halsell In Beautiful Ceremony

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony at four o'clock yesterday at Memorial Methodist Church, Miss Roberta Jean Bower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis John Bower, became the bride of James Donald Halsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clinton Halsell. The Rev. Ralph Cain performed the double ring ritual.

The altar was artistically banked with greenery interspersed with white mums which formed a picturesque background for tall slender baskets of maroon daisies. A myriad of white cathedral tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the setting.

Mrs. Harvey Nelson rendered a concert of nuptial music before and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white lace sheath model with a flared tunic, sculptured bodice and round neckline. Her elbow-length lace gloves matched the small sleeves of her wedding dress. A Juliet cap of matching lace held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She wore a pearl choker and pearl earrings. Her bouquet was of tuberose with white satin streamers.

Mrs. John Garland May, the bride's sister, was her only attendant. She was attired in a blue lace dress with a bouffant skirt, fitted bodice and matching lace gloves. She wore a small blue straw hat and carried a bouquet of pastel Estereeds.

Mr. Alsan Barnett served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Don Simmons and Garland May.

The bridegroom's twin sisters, Misses Beverly and Gladys Halsell, were candlelighters. They wore yellow lace princess style dresses with yellow poms in their hair.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue and white sheer model with navy accessories and a corsage of Estereeds.

Mrs. Halsell, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a light blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of white Estereeds.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white mums placed around white tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom was served by Mrs. Drew Anderson.

Alternating at the punch service were Miss Lillian Bower and Mrs. Parker Humble, the bride's aunts. Miss Claire Robin presided at the bride's guest book.

After the reception, the bride changed to a black cotton suit dress with black accessories for a wedding trip to New Orleans and Florida.

The couple will make their home on the White Ferry Road in West Monroe, upon their return.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Northwestern State College where she was a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon.

Mr. Halsell also graduated from

It bears a direct relationship to the formation and maintenance of the intercellular cement substance, it is significant in safe guarding of the body through the blood, and plays a big role in regulating the rate of cellular respiration. Girl Scout News

With "Adventure in the out of doors" as its theme the Girl Scouts of Ouachita Parish begin their fifth day camp season Tuesday. It will be the first held at Pine Wood, the Scout's own troop camp. The fencing of additional land last fall made it possible to have enough room for unit camping, while the large building will serve as shelter and as headquarters.

Mrs. J. A. Bowers, Mrs. J. G. Byrd, Mrs. E. J. Norman, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Leon Noland, and Mrs. N. L. Huckabee are among the adults serving as counselors, while a number of high school girls will serve as program aides — don't know the names of all of them yet.

The tea given by the cooking class sponsored by United Gas was a lovely affair. Mothers of the girls were able to see at first hand some of the results of the three week cooking course. The girls served dainty sandwiches, punch, four kinds of cookies, and pralines which they had made. It wasn't all fancy cooking, of course. We told you about the delicious luncheon and breakfast dishes the girls prepared.

The mamas are proud of their daughters and give due credit to Aline Lassaigne, Peggy Hemphill, and Elizabeth Doane of the United Gas staff. At the tea Miss Doane presented certificates as junior cooks to the following: Laura Allen, Doll Burgoyne, Jolene Buttitta, Paulette Buttitta, Ginger Donald, Ann McCarty, Mary Kate McCarty, Carol Nichols, Sharon Mann, Mary Martin, Helen Martin, Nancy Wilson, Doris Sanders, Nancy Wilson, Kay Anderson, Betsy Blackmon, Susanne Smith, Horton Laws, Nell Laws, Carolyn Laws, Diane King, Linda Bird, Ann Reinhart, Maide Jean Strickland, Lavenda Allen, Ellen Wedemeyer, Shirley Dean, Joan Dillon, Lee Ann Lewis, Beverly Sue Norris, Barbara Tynes, Charlotte Ann Overton, Peggy Fairchild, Kay Butler, Judy Franky, Edwina Hopkins, and Sandra Simpson.

Fourteen new junior lifesavers were added to the number in our community as a result of the class taught by Beverly Hatchell as part of the Girl Scout swimming program. We hope they will continue their work, become senior lifesavers and before many years, instructors themselves. Congratulations to the following, who successfully completed requirements: Linda Atkins, Delores Calderone, Billie Dixon, Carolyn Gallaspy, Amy Hook, Sharon Mann, Linda McCormick, Charlotte Panky, Clair Solomon, Joan Williams, Gerry Lester, Louise Lester, Virginia Chitty, Sandra Chitty. Six of the girls were from Troop 2, a good record. We'll have to give names of those who passed beginner and intermediate tests another time.

It always has rained during day camp. Do we dare hope?

First Methodist Church Is Scene Of Golson-Jones Vows Pledged Yesterday Afternoon

In a lovely summer wedding at five-thirty o'clock yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, Miss Agnes Jones and Fred Key Golson, Jr., were united in marriage during double-ring rites read by Dr. Guy F. Jones. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florence Leonard Jones and Mr. Golson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Key Golson.

The couple pledged their wedding vows at the same altar where the bride's parents were married by Dr. Jones twenty-eight years ago and knelt on the family prie dieux used by her parents. Tall baskets of white gladiolus, asters, flat fern and seven-branched candelabra with white tapers formed a background for the wedding party.

Candlelighters were Miss Bennie Grant and Kim Breese, cousins of the bride. Miss Grant was attired in a white embroidered organdy gown fashioned from the bridesmaids' dresses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wedding gown of nylon tulle over white satin fashioned with a chapel-length train, a sculptured bodice and bouffant skirt with peplums of chantilly lace. It featured dropped shoulders and cap sleeves embroidered in seed pearls. Tiny covered buttons extended down the back. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a Juliet cap outlined in orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, white tube roses and ivy.

Mrs. Jim Ashley, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was a chapel-length pink embroidered organdy over cotton satin with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a garland of tuberoses and tulle in her hair and carried a bouquet of white asters and variegated ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Guy B. Jones, Mrs. Robert Holt, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jack Lane. Their gowns, headresses and bouquets were identical with the matron's of honor.

Fred Crenshaw served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Guy B. Jones, brother of the bride, Robert Holt and Hudson Tomlinson. J. D. Cameron and Joe Kendrick were ushers.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a beige cotton lace gown over tulle with white accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Golson, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a mauve chiffon with a round neckline trimmed in lace and rhinestones with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Garden Reception
A reception followed the wedding in the garden of the bride's parents at 4308 South Grand.

Round tables overlaid with white organdy and decorated with ivy held the two punch services. Centering the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with white wedding bells filled with pink rosebuds and surrounded by English ivy. The bride's bouquet was also placed on the table.

Hurricane candles were attractively placed throughout the garden.

Alternating at the punch bowls were Mrs. Pete Heslep, Mrs. Louis Gimler, Mrs. A. M. Mutersbaugh and Mrs. Julius Corkern.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Frank Breese, Mrs. Fagan Cox, Mrs. Phil Dunning, Mrs. B. B. Handy, Mrs. Mattie Stewart, Mrs. Ted Loehr, Mrs. Bailey Grant and Mrs. T. H. Harper.

Background music was played during the reception by Mr. Leon Hammond.

The wedding cake was served by Mrs. D. L. Croom and Mrs. Guy F. Jones.

Miss Betty Jane Jeter presided at the bride's book.

Miss Nancy McCormick, Miss Margie Mutersbaugh, Miss Louise Gray and Miss Joan Williams were tea girls.

For a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the bride changed to a pink and white cotton dress with a jacket and white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School, Northeast Junior College, Louisiana State University and the Physical Therapy School in New Orleans. She is a member of Phi Mu sorority.

Mr. Golson graduated from Winnfield High School and Louisiana Tech.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. D. L. Croom of Monrohan, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim

Kitchen Tool Tips

The tools you use in the kitchen can make or sew work. Why not check up on your gadgets to see if they are efficient?

Take knives. Does your paring knife fit your hand comfortably? Is the blade long enough to do its job, but not so long that it is out of proportion to the size of the handle?

A high carbon steel blade has the best cutting edge, but the metal stains. Stainless steel blades are easier to care for if you plan to use the knife on acid fruits which discolor steel.

Then there's the flour sifter. The crank kind requires both hands to work it, but the trigger variety can be operated one-handed. Some of the trigger type have two or three screens so that all the sifting is done in one operation. If the sifting mechanism is exposed, it is more likely to be bent out of shape in storage.

Mon Ami Newcomer's Club Enjoys Luncheon Thursday

Mrs. Johnny Brown, Mrs. Bob Persful and Mrs. T. J. Sandridge, outgoing officers of the Mon Amie Newcomer's Club, were hostesses at the July meeting which was held at noon Thursday at the Lotus Club.

A fishing theme was carried out in the table decorations and each new officer's place was marked with a corsage. Unique straw fishing poles with miniature fish in each water glass marked the members' places.

Mrs. Brown, retiring president, expressed her appreciation to the members for their cooperation during the past year.

Mrs. John Pittman, newly elected president, introduced the new officers. They are: Mrs. Frances Fryday, vice-president; Mrs. W. C. Carlson, secretary; Mrs. Clyde Stringer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. W. Mattingly, treasurer; Miss Ann Riddle, historian; Mrs. A. D. Hanks, membership chairman; Mrs. Eugene Williams, year book chairman.

After the business reports were given members and their guests played canasta and bridge.

Mrs. Libba Hartzler won high score at bridge and Mrs. John Pittman was won. The door prize was

M. A. Trusty and Miss La Verne Kleeme.

Don't let a spring shower wilt the flowers of your new hat. Be prepared for a surprise downpour by carrying a plastic head cover in your purse. Some fold into a packet that's no more than three inches long and no wider than a cigarette case.

If your hair is fine, set it in large, thick pin curls for thickness and spring. When wound tightly, fine hair tends to look fuzzy.

MISS JOAN MALONE'S engagement to Charles Paul Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wood of Newport, Ark., is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Gladys Kennedy of this city. The wedding will be an event of Saturday, August 14, at Central Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. Miss Minnie Varnado of Natchitoches will be the bride's only attendant. Friends are invited.

If your face is round, shape your brows so that they arch slightly, coming down rather sharply at the sides. And keep them fairly thick.

If you use color rinse on your hair, take care to prevent its showing at hairline and part. After applying the rinse according to directions, go over these areas with a sudsy cotton-tipped stick to remove stain. Then rinse hair again.

If you are frequently annoyed by your hat blowing off and you can't use a hatpin without distorting the hat's shape, sew a small comb to the binding to act as a gripper.

SUMMER BLOSSOMS—The loveliest of summer blossoms are the crape myrtle, blooming now in Monroe gardens. The colors range from white and lavender to many shades of rose. Particularly beautiful are the delicate pink ones seen in clusters in the Eugene Windes garden on Myrtle Street.

Garden Booklet Available Soon

For several years I've promised you a compilation of garden jobs, by months, in booklet form. I've worked on this for five years and it's now in the secretary's hands. In this column, very soon, I'll tell you to call for your copy. It's fifteen pages long, with backs of sheets left for your notes. As new practices and chemicals come out as the result of experimentation and science, I'll bring them to you through this column and you can record them in your book. This calendar will necessarily have to be revised every four or five years to keep up with progress. Please don't call yet as the secretary has lots of work to do on the book before it is ready for distribution. I hope it will be ready by August 1st.

Garden Ramblings

If you saw my TV show last Tuesday, I'm sure you're convinced that for long panicles of crape myrtle blooms — you'll find. There are some places in the yard where you want large blooms — then some places where you want trees with small blooms for mass effect. My white crape myrtles that were pruned, bore blooms that look like the grumpy gray beard. That's a nice effect for a tree to drape over a patio or fence.

The dwarf lavender and very pale pink crape myrtles are beautiful in the Twin City gardens. My blue hasn't bloomed. I'll tell you about it later. Mrs. Evans told me about a dwarf white that has long panicles of bloom like the pale pink. I believe we'll all go in for more of this dwarf plant since so many of our azaleas are just not taking this heat very well, unless there's plenty of shade.

If there's a gardener who has a dwarf white crape myrtle, please call me so I can see one in bloom. I have just learned this year that crape myrtles will sometimes "sulk" or stay dormant for a year, then put out the next year. If you have some plants that you put out this year that seem dead, don't discard them. Cut them back and water just as you do your other shrubs. Next year they will probably surprise you by putting out leaves and blooms.

Often we decide a newly planted shrub is dead and dig it up to find that the roots are still green. I have three white flowering quince plants that have just put out leaves in the last three weeks. Now they are healthy and growing fast.

The oleanders have been so very beautiful. I've never noticed so many white ones before. For five years I've tried to get plants. One of the nurserymen just called and said he had received a shipment. They're in buckets, so I'm planting several now. With care, they'll live.

You can divide and transplant your Easter lilies, now. Successful growers in Ouachita Parish have found bone meal worked in the soil is highly beneficial for this bulb.

The white bud that we all admired so much in an arrangement at the Monroe Garden Club, is C. Canadensis Alba. I can give you the address for ordering if our nurseries don't stock this tree this winter. Joyce Kellogg very kindly called several weeks ago and gave me this address. Let's buy at home, though, when the plants are here.

Annals

As you know, an annual is a plant that completes its life cycle from seed to seed in one year and then dies. There are several groups of these plants. There are the hardy winter blooming ones that must be planted in the fall or early winter. They can't take heat. Examples are pansies and calendulas.

Then there are the hardy annuals that bloom in the spring, which of course should be planted in the fall or as late as February. The cold does not affect them. Examples are poppies, cornflower and larkspurs.

In the third group there are tender plants that bloom in the spring that cannot stand cold or heat. They bloom before the heat begins. Example, nasturtium.

Then, there are hot weather annuals. They are planted when the weather is warm and bloom when it's warm, such as zinnias and marigolds.

Finally, there is still another category of annuals that bloom preferably in the fall. Cosmos is an example of this annual. In next Sunday's column I'll discuss a long list of annuals with characteristics of each.

Announcements

A letter from Mrs. Dorothy Hill, 3606 Gordon Avenue, says, "As an interested reader of your column each Sunday, I have noticed at times people offer flowers to others. I have no plants to offer but I have built a large brick patio with no help from anyone. Many of my personal friends have asked for directions, so I thought maybe others might like to know. I'll be glad to show my patio and barbecue to anybody who is interested. My patio is L shaped, containing about 400 square feet. I used old brick and set them in mortar. The barbecue pit is very simple and I designed it myself. There is a bed of sand under the patio as the base and I used about 1,200 brick. I worked on it in my spare time over a period of four months." Thank you, Mrs. Hill for this information.

Tune in Tuesday at 1:30 for my show on KNOE-TV. I'll have Mr. Kock, specialist in engineering from L. S. U. He'll show the housewife some hints on use of electricity in the home.

Don't throw that shiny or nap-worn suit away! One of our specialists located a company that repairs the fabric making it look like new. The price is very reasonable. Mrs. Dawson sent a suit to be repaired. We'll tell you about this as soon as the company returns her garment. The outstanding women's magazines have en-

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lonier Hunt

Rose Gardens In Paris--Fabulous

PARIS — It seems almost impossible that I have now been in France nearly two weeks. I spoke to the Horticultural Club at a dinner at the Royal Horticultural Society's "New Hall" last night. I flew across the channel the day before.

English gardeners are having "the coldest summer we ever heard of!" Nevertheless, the delphinium show would have made any Southern gardener's mouth water! Alas, only the tough old Chinese delphinium can last through one of our summers. Some day the plant breeders will give us delphinium for heat, we hope.

I was genuinely thrilled when I looked out over my audience and saw the leading rock garden authority, Mr. Ingwersen, the editor of "Gardening Illustrated"; Mr. Helleger, the editor of another English publication, the specialists in this and that field and many of London's leading social lights, too—all there in the interest of gardening. Everyone at dinner was chatting about his or her own garden. Mr. Lanning Ruper, an American who lives over here now and is assistant editor of The Journal of the Royal Horticultural Society, was toastmaster, and before we knew it we rose and toasted the Queen!

My audience at the lecture was obviously fascinated with my slides of the South. They stayed afterwards and asked questions for nearly half an hour. Gardeners are such real people! Someone wanted seeds of our yellow jessamine. Lady Bonham-Carter wanted some bulbs and left a note saying she would bring me a rare bulb when I returned in three weeks from the Continent. And everyone invited me to come to see his or her garden.

Before I went to London I had over a week in and around Paris.

dorsed this renapping process. It works equally well on men's suits, overcoats, top coats, trousers, slacks and jackets. Sounds like a miracle for money saving. See you again next Sunday.

Double Wedding Unites Couples

LAKE PROVIDENCE—On Saturday evening, July 3, at 7:15, Miss Janet Joyce Rinicker became the bride of Olen Omazel Moulder, and Miss Mary Jean French the bride of James Perry Knight, at the Elmwood Baptist Church. Rev. W. M. Fussell, Winnsboro, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Rinicker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Edwin Rinicker. Mr. Moulder's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Burtsum Webster Moulder. The parents of Miss French are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. French, all of Elmwood. Mr. Knight's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Delton Knight of Transylvania.

Midsummer flowers were effectively used in decorating the church. Vases of mixed flowers interspersed potted geraniums throughout the auditorium; lighted candles were based with sprays of greenery in the windows; pink roses and native foliage entwined the arch beneath which the couples stood to plight their troth. Tall white tapers were the background for the bride party. Candelighters were Misses Sue Wiggins and Johnnie Crutchfield. The ushers were Miss Evelyn French and Miss Inez Acreman.

Mr. C. A. French escorted both of the bride's to the altar where they were met by their respective groomsmen.

Miss Sue Moulder was maid of honor for the Moulder-Rinicker couple, and Miss Carleen French attended her sister, Miss Mary Jean French. Their identical gowns were of pale blue organza with low neckline and bouffant skirt.

Little Miss Judy Knight was the flower girl.

The brides' wait length dresses were of soft pink organza with scoop scooped neckline with the bodices encrusted with rhinestones, which were repeated on the belts. Each wore a double strand of pink pearls and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Moulder had as his best man, Mr. Dale Rinicker. Mr. Raymond Bell was best man for Mr. Knight.

An informal reception was held immediately following the church service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. French. Standing with the bride party Mrs. French welcomed the guests wearing a printed silk of white, patterned in pale green. Mrs. Knight chose a navy sheer, with navy accessories, and Mrs. Moulder and Mrs. Rinicker were similarly gowned in white and grey patterned sheers. Each wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth. The four tiered wedding cake was topped with vases of flowers under an arch of rosebuds. Assisting in the dining room, courtesies of serving cake and punch, were Mrs. Billie Marie Payne, Miss Sue Wiggins, Miss Carleen French and Miss Johnnie Crutchfield.

Mrs. Moulder was graduated from the Monticello High School. Mr. Moulder attended school in Mississippi.

Mrs. Knight also graduated at Monticello High. Mr. Knight, graduated from Lake Providence High, and attended Northeast State College. They will make their home in Lake Providence.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Monroe Church Flowers

Despite the extreme heat the garden center has been most active this week. Among our visitors was Mrs. W. E. Talbert of Fort Worth. Mrs. Talbert (the former Ione Simmons of Ruston) made a special trip to visit the garden center and learn of its activities. At present Mrs. Talbert is visiting in Ruston and conducting a flower arrangement clinic. Mrs. R. L. Vintits of old ones are growing there as well as new ones. Out of the copious notes I made, here are the highlights. Most outstanding white polyanthamas Reine des Neiges originated by Lambert. It is superb in a bed of several dozen plants, all about 18 inches tall.

When you look out over a huge rose garden, the really outstanding colors — not the gaudiest ones, of course — show up. The ones that flower well stand out and the healthiest most robust growers draw your eye. I kept coming back to the yellow climber which came out in 1933. It was Golden Climber, a Hybrid Wichniviana introduced by Brownell.

There had been several days of hot weather on these roses and the yellow blossoms were beautiful even when in faded stages. Masquerade looks lovely here with its part yellow and part bright red. Pompon Beauty certainly is outstanding in that class of polyanthamas which have tight flowers like the old fashioned roses. It is an orange red.

Finally, an old climber originated in 1917 and called Alexandre Girault is one of the best roses I have ever seen really smothering a trellis with deep bright, pink medium-sized flowers.

Next week we shall tell you about the great international roses at Bagatelle in one of the Paris parks.

In the horticulture class blue ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Louis Peters for Petunia "Silver Medal" and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie for crape myrtle "Rosea", a red ribbon to Mrs. Ray Rhymes for zinnias.

Today I would like to tell you of some beautiful church arrangements recently seen in Monroe. Church decoration is one of the happiest and most rewarding, and incidentally the most exacting, works of the flower arranger. A number of our gardeners raise flowers especially for use in their churches. For the First Methodist Sunday school rooms, Clara Dennis made a lovely arrangement of Bells of Ireland and white rose buds in a milk glass container. At St. Matthews Church lovely pink gladioli and pink carnations in mass arrangements were used at the two side altars and vertical arrangements of the same flowers in gold containers at the main altar. Magnolia and self-foilage in a large mass arrangement in a classical urn was used at the First Methodist Church in Monroe. Virginia Husted arranged for the Parkview Baptist Church a beautiful mass design in a large white urn. Aspidistra and white oleanders were combined with white petunias trailing over the rim on the container.

Another lovely church arrangement is pine and daylilies in a brass urn. We had here a most beautiful specimen of the Goldband lily from the garden of Mrs. D. F. Dennis. Jo Evans tell us many of these fine lilies will do well here if we give them afternoon shade and adequate mulch around their roots, and, of course, plenty of moisture. Next week Mrs. R. R. Pigott will exhibit her fine Eucornis or Pineapple Lily which is now in bloom. This lovely plant has small starlike chartreuse flowers in a long spike topped with a cluster of leaf-like bracts. Be sure to come in and see it.

Mrs. Hobby In Appeal For Ike's Health Proposal

WASHINGTON, July 9 —UP—Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby Friday night sought to rally support for President Eisenhower's health reinsurance plan on the eve of its consideration by a lukewarm Congress.

Mrs. Hobby made a radio-TV broadcast from the White House to explain the two-fold aim of the program — better medical and hospital insurance for more people. "It rejects socialized medicine," Mrs. Hobby said.

President Eisenhower introduced Mrs. Hobby as "one who got things done" during World War II, when she organized and commanded the Women's Army Corps.

Only a few hours before, the House Commerce committee approved a bill embodying the Eisenhower program. But Rep. J. Percy Priest (D - Tenn.) said several members had "reservations" about supporting the measure when it reaches the floor next week. The Senate Labor committee, which approved a parallel measure on July 1, was equally unenthusiastic.

Mrs. Hobby noted that 29 million people had private health insurance in 1952, a tremendous increase from 1929 when only eight million had it. But she said the government hopes to encourage insurance companies not only to give these policy holders broader benefits but to bring in a large number of the 63 million still uninsured.

Mrs. Hobby said the program should make it easier for farmers and other groups of individuals to form their own health insurance groups like those that are formed in factories and big business establishments. She stressed that everything is voluntary.

Meanwhile the commission on intergovernmental relations announced the establishment of a 13-man committee to make a sweeping study of all kinds of federal aid to public health. The chairman is Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of the University of Kansas at Lawrence. He set July 19 and 20 for an opening meeting in Washington.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Start Exercises Slowly Guard Your Heart Curve,

When I was a student preparing for a career as a teacher of physical education I was greatly impressed by something one of my instructors said to us: "You can't be too careful about your heart curve. Watch it! Guard it!" Over and over again this was pounded into my consciousness.

By this my teacher meant that the rate of the heart beat should be increased gradually and should also be decreased gradually. There should be no sudden jumps in the rate. We should give the valves of the heart an opportunity to expand gradually and to return to normal rate slowly.

Walk First

Whenever I teach classes I start them by having my pupils walk about the room, first slowly and then with gradually increasing tempo. From there we go to some of the easier exercises, working up slowly to the more strenuous ones. From the top of the curve we then work back to normal, ending the period with one or two exercises which are similar to walking in energy requirement.

Remember this when you take exercises at home. Do not jump out of bed and begin exercising violently. You may damage your heart permanently if you do. Whenever you begin or end an exercise period, follow the pattern I have described above.

Many doctors feel that lack of exercise is one of the great aging factors and that exercise builds strong, reliable hearts. However, you should not overdo in exercise and should build up gradually, not only in the type of exercise at each exercise period, but in the overall work, of course, and have never dared have children. I have cried, begged and threatened him but nothing has helped. I can't figure

Negative Emotions
The heart and blood pressure should always be checked before starting a course of exercise, whether in a class or at home.

Remember, too, that negative emotions can damage a heart severely. There is probably more heart trouble which is due to worry, strain and chronic unhappiness than to exercise.

If you would like to have my perfect daily routine of exercise which was especially planned for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 "Essential Daily Routine for Beauty & Health" to Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

Tomorrow: "Loneliness, Disappointments Are Strong Aging Factors."

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: Here's one for the books! We have been married for 15 years and at one time were separated for two years. I was taken out of the divorce by my husband — why, I will never know. He is a good man and claims that he loves me but he factors and that exercise builds strong, reliable hearts. However, you should not overdo in exercise and should build up gradually, not only in the type of exercise at each exercise period, but in the overall work, of course, and have never dared have children. I have cried, begged and threatened him but nothing has helped. I can't figure

Many doctors feel that lack of exercise is one of the great aging factors and that exercise builds strong, reliable hearts. However, you should not overdo in exercise and should build up gradually, not only in the type of exercise at each exercise period, but in the overall work, of course, and have never dared have children. I have cried, begged and threatened him but nothing has helped. I can't figure him out; he seems to live in a world of his own, never shows an interest in anything (but liquor) and never helps in the house. What future can I have? What can I do to make him see how wrong he is? — Discouraged Wife

That's not one for the books, woman. It is one for a psychiatrist and always has been. After trying to figure him out for 15 years, you'd better turn him over to an expert. A man who drinks excessively and "lives in a world of his own" is escaping from something. He might not, and probably does not, know what that something is. A psychiatrist can help him find out and face it. How do you get him to go? You point out that both of you have wasted 15 years of life; that his condition has never changed and that you, for one, refuse to waste any more of your life. You tell him he will either seek psychiatric help or you will no longer stand by. If you think the price of a psychiatrist is prohibitive, figure out what the liquor costs in just one year, or seek a psychiatrist through a welfare organization.

Dear Mrs. Landers: Please tell me why, whenever any girl writes about her boy friend who has broken up with her or is angry with her, you tell her to forget the boy. Do you think it is that easy to "forget" a boy she loves? Or, can't you think of anything else to write? I think you are just an old lady who never loved or had a man. Although I am only 14, I probably know more about love than you do. — Miss P. E.

You probably do... and that is what is worrying the adult world. At your age you know a great deal about love but have not yet learned how to cope with your adolescent emotions. Sure, it's difficult to forget a boy you love, but when he wants no part of you... can you think of a better solution?

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: For several years I have tried to be a good Christian woman and I attend to my own business; but in spite of all that I have tried to do for them, my neighbors look down on me and talk about me. Does the Lord have no reward for us here as well as hereafter? Mrs. E. M. L.

ANSWER: Apparently the thing that has been driving you to be a good Christian woman in your community is a desire for temporal rewards and not a deep, genuine love in your heart for Christ; but now that you have become a Christian, you should not expect personal admiration.

We are not promised a life of ease when we become children of God. To the contrary, Paul said, yes, all who live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. It is not an easy thing to be a disciple of Christ, but it is the most glorious thing in the universe. He has not promised to deliver us from trials and tribulations, but He has promised strength to bear them and victory over them. To the child of God most often trials and bitter circumstances are blessings in disguise. The more trials you overcome by the grace of God, the easier your victory over the next, each victory giving added strength, until after a time you almost wish for things of a more difficult nature, something to add enthusiasm to action. To have everything just as we like makes us weaklings, while to have things go wrong and yet defeat them with a smile and determination is to develop those stalwart traits that commend a person to his fellowman. Jesus said, "Take up your cross, and follow me," and at the same time, love the very ones who mistreat and misunderstand you.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. ARE THERE THREE FUNDAMENTAL LAWS OF SELLING?
YES ☐ NO ☐

2. TWO KINDS OF MINDS TAKE UP COMMUNISM.
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

3. CAN PEOPLE TELL PURE COFFEE FROM SUBSTITUTES?
YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, says psychologist Richard Husband in his "Psychology of Successful Selling." 1. Know your product from every angle—whether socks or autos. 2. Have confidence and enthusiasm about your goods. 3. Work in proportion to the size of the sale. Many salesmen lost by not working harder to sell a $100 item than a $1,000 one. The best book I know of on how to sell, published by Harper and Brothers. Ask your library.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. True. According to Dr. Edward U. Condon, noted scientist, the first are those inquiring, scientific minds who—especially in the '30's—examined communism scientifically and dropped it as a slave society. Second, those uncritical, emotional minds who take it up as a crusade leading into paradise. We need fear nothing from the first, everything from the second.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Doubtful. Nancy Morris, food expert, Portland "Oregonian," brewed three pots resembling col-

fee. Pot A, pure coffee; B, coffee with starch and phosphate added; C, two-third coffee, one-third cereal fig extender. Five of six confirmed coffee drinkers thought C best; one, B. None selected A!

Central Texas Still In Need Of Drouth Aid

WASHINGTON, July 10.—UP—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said Friday further drouth relief is needed for cattlemen in Central Texas.

He told the Senate that these cattlemen "urgently need protein supplements and roughage or hay to sustain their breeding herds." Forced selling of their foundation herds, he said, would be "economic waste of the most flagrant kind."

Johnson reminded that the protein feed drouth relief program is scheduled to end next Thursday. He said it could be extended by the administration.

'Night People' Filmed In Berlin, Opens Today

A taut exciting melodrama about the intrigue that goes on almost every day between East and West Berlin and the powder-kag for danger it represents opened today at the Paramount Theatre. It is 20th-Century-Fox's newest CinemaScope production "Night People," which Nunnally Johnson wrote, produced and directed in Europe. Gregory Peck, Broderick Crawford, Anita Bjork and Rita Gam star in the picture.

Played in the actual locale of the story and with such outstanding landmarks as the Brandenburg Gate, Unter den Linden, the burned out Reichstag Building, the bunker in the Chancellery where Hitler and Eva Braun met their deaths, the fire-gutted Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church and street scenes along Berlin's most fashionable street, Kurfurstendamm, for backgrounds, "Night People" has an authenticity that few pictures of its kind attain. The audience was projected into the excitement and daily battle of wits that goes on between the American Army Intelligence Corps and the East Berlin Reds through the fine performances of the east and the suspenseful direction of Mr. Johnson, who kept the pace swift.

The story starts in high with the kidnapping of an American G. I. by the East German Reds. Broderick Crawford, as the father of the boy, gives another of his forthright performances and airs up plenty of action when he arrives in Berlin to get his son back. The job falls to Gregory Peck, who plays a colonel in the American Army C. I. C. in a stern and cagey manner, using his ingratiating way with women to get information.

Anita Bjork, a star in Swedish movies, makes her debut in "Night People" and she is sufficiently beguiling to be able to lead Peck slightly astray, much to the dismay of Rita Gam, an American secretary in Peck's Berlin office.

FROM 'ROSE MARIE' — An Indian warrior is flung from a cliff as part of the spectacular "Totem Tom-Tom" number from "Rose Marie," M-G-M's first CinemaScope musical, coming to Jim Theatre. In insert are Ann Blyth and Fernando Lamas, principals of the musical romance taking place against a background of the Northwest Mounted Police. Also starring in the film version of the famed operetta are Howard Keel, as a Mountie, Bert Lahr and Marjorie Main. The lavish picture was filmed in color at Jasper Park, Alberta, Canada, and at Mammoth Lakes, California.

Westerns Have Grown Up
By JAMES MILLICAN
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, July 10 — Western pictures, once regarded as strictly juvenile in treatment, have now become adult — and, consequently, are attracting larger audiences all the while. In other words, westerns have grown up — in many instances. When the motion picture was originated, it was basically concerned with physical or visual action. Then came sound and with it, dialogue. And, far too often was there a tendency to talk a subject to something approximating entertainment death. Conversation was used like a new toy. But that day has gone now, especially in the productions which are fundamentally concerned with action.

Certainly the best exponent of action, visual in character, is the western or historical drama. Pace is the keynote of the story and due to its sight rather than audible presentation, the subject had an audience appeal far wider than productions which rely upon conversation for purposes of story-telling. Apart from these facts, greater care is now being exercised to insure authenticity of story material in both westerns and historical films. Years ago, plausibility and historical and technical accuracy didn't rate too much attention. But today it is different, especially in regard to the big-budget productions. Now researchers labor for weeks to gather authentic material, and producers and directors, too, are anxious to present scenes, costumes and other elements which are strictly valid and correct. Occasionally errors do creep in but not too often these days.

It has been my privilege to work in quite a few westerns and historical dramas, which, may I add, I thoroughly enjoy. For some inexplicable reason, I've played a series of historical characters, ranging from "General George Custer" in "Warpath" to my present role as "General Crook" in "Chief Crazy Horse." In between, I have portrayed Matt Earp in three pictures, as well as an assortment of other people who actually figured in early American history.

Personally, I believe that an actor assigned to impersonate real characters is apt to get more than ordinary satisfaction out of such parts. He's portraying genuine flesh-and-blood people, not fabricated and fictionalized people, and as such, the performances, I feel, are likely to have the impact of reality more than in the instances of strictly fictional folks. I appreciate the fact that any good actor can portray any sort of role, either based upon fact or fiction, as the script demands.

American historical subjects, due to their increased accuracy in a technical fashion, can exercise a potent influence on the youthful moviegoer of today. Many of the stories being filmed are inspirational as they glorify American traditions and courage. They teach history through a painless medium — painless as compared with many school textbooks — and leave an impression which is difficult to achieve in the youthful mind through the mere printed word. This tremendous interest on the part of young people, places a considerable responsibility upon the movie makers. It seems to me, as it automatically requires that they adhere to historical fact as they prepare and film their productions. Otherwise, youth will obtain a distorted and inaccurate view of American history. This, of course, does not suggest the omission of fictional material or story developments which are necessary to make a plot interesting and appealing. I do feel, however, that basic historical characters, who have played a leading part in our nation's life, should not be distorted or altered merely to prove entertainment and that historical events of major importance should be kept intact and complete.

In the days of grim tensions, certainly the western or historical film plays a vital part in our entertainment scheme if things. They afford a splendid and easily accessible escape from the oftentimes tragic realities of 1954. Look at a movie in this category and you are transported far, far away from the present era. The beauty of the scenery and the exciting tales of another generation, perhaps another century, captivate your thoughts and your imagination as nothing else does. You momentarily live in a world far removed from the reality which perils and plagues you and causes you tensions and fears. In this dream world, the hero is rewarded and the villain is punished. Call it an opiate, if you wish, but it's really a relaxing experience. This business of being whisked away on a magic carpet to some colorful period in our nation's history.
